DAILY. THE UNION

VOL. XXII.—NO. 6535 PORTLAND, OREGON; SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1882 PRICE—TEN CENTS.

GENERAL NEWS.

A Bold Attempt to Blackmail Charles Francis Adams.

ILLINOIS SENDS A COLONY TO SETTLE IN OREGON.

Mass Convention of the Jos. Smith Branch of Latter Day Saints.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Boston, April 7.—A remarkable attempt to extort money from Charles Francis Adams and blackmail his family has just been unearthed. The first intimation of the scheme was a warning received by Adams' clerk on Friday that Adams' account at the bank was overdrawn. This was considered very surprising, as he was known to have $18,000 to his credit there. Immediate investigation showed a check for $17,500, regularly endorsed and signed by Adams, but filled by another hand, had been deposited to the Merchants bank some time previously and had in due course of business come around to Adams' bank. To-day J. S. Morrison was arrested on the 10 o'clock train for New York. He made a statement that the check represented money that Adams had lost at gaming. The statement further shows that Adams, who is in feeble health and whose memory is impaired, was considered a fit subject for plucking by this man, who is said to be interested in a bunko game. Morrison met Adams on the street, and assuming to be a relative and political friend, decoyed him into a place in Boylston street where a game was progressing. Adams was confused and did not seem to know what he was about. The sharpers finally induced him to sign and endorse three checks—one for $17,500, one for $1600 and one for $250. Morrison frankly said he did not believe Mr. Adams knew what he was doing, and as he saw him after the swindle coming from his home without any apparent agitation he, Morrison, supposed Adams had concluded to allow the checks to be paid. Another man named J. F. Morton is implicated but has not yet been arrested. The matter was worked up by detectives employed by Adams' clerks. Adams, who is seventy-six years old, has been somewhat ill for two years, and his mind at times is affected. He does not yet seem to realize the extent or nature of the transaction. The largest check was the only one deposited.

There's Room Enough for All.

Bloomington, Ill., April 7.—Last night over 30 Bloomingtonians left for Oregon and California. Many intend to make those states their future home. A large immigration to the west will be made during the present spring from McLean county. Most of the emigrants intending to go to Oregon and Washington territory.

Prize Fight at Chicago.

Chicago, April 7.—Early this morning at a point near this city, well known as a sporting place, Owen McManus of Syracuse and John Files of New York, fought with hard gloves for $200 a side. After McManus had delivered three knock downs in succession to his opponent, he was declared loser on a foul.

Rhode Island Election.

Providence, April 7.—The republican majority in the state is large. Anthony will be re-elected for his fifth term to the senate.

An Increase of Provender.

Cincinnati, April 7.—The stock of provisions, pork and lard on hand considerably exceeds that of last year.

Water at Morgan City.

Morgan City, La., April 7.—There is eight feet of water all over the country, and 7000 orange trees have been killed on the Pandellis plantation. Sixty head of cattle, abandoned, were seen drowning.

Decoration Day.

New Orleans, April 7.—The graves of confederates were decorated to-day. The Grand Army of the Republic gave a wreath.

Conference of the Joe Smith Mormons.

Independence, April 7.—The general conference of the world of the church of latter-day saints, anti-polygamy Mormons, began here this morning. Over 100 delegates were present from all over the United States and Canada and several from England. Joseph Smith, Jr., presided.

Argument Finished.

Charleston, April 7.—Argument was finished to-day on motion to quash indictment in the election cases. The judge announced he would take time to consider the questions submitted.

The Week's Failures.

New York, April 7.—Failures for the seven days reported to R. G. Dunn & Co's mercantile agency, 127. Eastern states, 18; southern, 39; middle, 20; western, 35; Pacific, 8; New York city, 7. This is about the same as last week, so far as number is concerned. The figures in New York are insignificant.

A Settlement Wanted.

Pueblo, April 7.—Friends of the men lynched here recently on suspicion of stealing cattle, will sue the county for $50,000 damages on the ground that while they were in the hands of responsible officials they were permitted to be taken away and killed. Able counsel are retained.

Will Head the Reformers.

Philadelphia, April 7.—U. S. Senator Mitchell, in a letter to-day to the press, virtually declares independence of the Cameron administration, and takes the leadership of the reform republican movement.

Struck for Less Work.

Muskegon, Mich., April 7.—A special yesterday morning, says 400 boom boys quietly struck for reduction of hours of labor from 11½ to 10 hours a day. The Booming Company were willing to pay advanced wages, but the men prefer a short day. No disturbance has resulted as yet.

Non-Union Men Threatened.

Milwaukee, April 7.—Non-union men in factories here are being threatened by unionists.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The New Secretary's Views.

New York, April 7.—A Washington special says the new secretary of the interior gives expression to his views on one point of the Indian question to-day, that indicates a modification of Secretary Kirkwood's policy. He was asked what he thought of allotment of lands in severalty to Indians. Said he: "The allotment of lands in severalty to Indians I do not regard as practicable except in cases where Indians are partly civilized. It is of no use to put wild Indians on land parceled out to them, because they will not stay on it. If we do they do not want a lot of land off by themselves, because they do not realize the work of it. If Indians are somewhat civilized so as to know the value of land and what it may be made to produce, and then are broken to work it, it might do to give them a farm; but the wild Indians do not want a farm, and will not stay on it if given them." It is believed the Indian policy, under the new secretary, will be characterized by more firmness in practical dealing with the Indians than for some years.

The Presidential Count Bill.

The presidential count bill which passed the senate without amendment, provides that presidential electors in each state shall meet and give their votes the second Monday next following their appointment at such places as the legislatures may state, and that each state, pursuant to its laws existing on the day fixed by appointment of electors may determine prior to meeting of electors any controversy concerning appointment of all or any of them, and that such determination shall be conclusive evidence of their lawful title, and shall govern in the count by congress; that no electoral vote or votes from a state from which but one return has been received shall be rejected, except by affirmative votes of the two houses, and that if more than one return is received from a state, the votes of those electors appointed by lawful tribunal of states shall be counted, and in event of a question as to which of two or more such state tribunals is the lawful tribunal, the electors appointed by that tribunal which the two houses acting separately shall decide to be the authorized one, shall be counted; that in case of an undetermined case between two or more sets of electors of a state, those states shall be counted which the two houses acting separately shall decide to be lawful electoral votes. The bill also provides that if counting of votes shall not be completed before the fifth calendar day next after the first joint meeting of the two houses, no recess shall be afterward taken by either house until counting is finished.

Shipherd's Investigation.

Shipherd this morning explained that the Peruvian company held a claim through a natural son of Cochet. He (Shipherd) began the correspondence with Hurlbut the 28th day of May. Witness was closely questioned as to whether he received any encouragement from the president or secretary of state. He had no evidence that the president saw any papers about the Peruvian claims, except the letter from Stanley Brown, stating "Your letter received and referred to state department." He would not have approached Hurlbut had he believed him above taking a bribe, but was himself guiltless in the matter. Hurlbut never answered his letter or talked again. Witness supposed the reason was that Hurlbut was in the pay of the opposition. Regarding Blaine, witness said his first interview was suggested by Blair, witness' counsel, and it occurred July 25th—two months after the talk with Hurlbut. It never occurred to witness to make any proposition to Blaine about his becoming interested pecuniarily. Witness expected the question as to whether he did not know such a proposition would result in his being shown the door.

Those who may be Retired.

Passage of the army bill, with a rider retiring officers at 62 years of age, will during five years coming retire Sherman, McDowell, Hancock, three inspector generals, one judge advocate, seven quartermasters, three commissaries of subsistence, sixteen medical officers, eleven paymasters, twelve engineer officers, two ordnance officers, eleven colonels, seven lieutenant colonels, three majors and nine captains of infantry, four colonels, two lieutenant colonels of cavalry, and five colonels, five lieutenant colonels, one major and three captains of artillery.

Indian Matters.

The commissioner of Indian affairs has ordered Agent Tiffany, of San Carlos agency, to hold for trial those Indian prisoners turned over to him recently by the military authorities against whom there is positive evidence of guilt, and the release of the remainder. These Indians were engaged in the Cibicu massacre.

New Nominations.

Washington, April 7.—Roland Worthington, collector at Boston; Alden B. Underwood, surveyor of customs at Boston; Daniel Hall, naval officer at Boston; J. Knox, comptroller of currency.

Hayes' Orders Reversed.

First Assistant Postmaster General Hatton's letter to the Cincinnati postmaster, reversing President Hayes' civil service orders, attracts much attention here. It shows the administration is preparing to keep the reins well in hand.

MEXICO.

Railroad Accepted.

City of Mexico, April 5.—The government has accepted the Mexican Central railroad from El Paso Del North south to Chihuahua.

"Rough on Rats." Clears out rats, mice, flies, roaches, bedbugs, ants, vermin, chipmunks. 15c.

DEVASTATING TORNADOES.

A Kansas Cyclone.

Topeka, Kansas, April 7.—A cyclone struck west of the Arkansas, near Raymond [illegible] last night, and moved in a northerly direction. It prostrated telegraph poles where it crossed the railroad tracks. John Wilson's house was blown down, Mrs. Wilson killed and a Mrs. Parker fatally injured. Proceeding north the storm struck the town of Chase, and demolished 22 of the 26 buildings in the place, threw cars from the track, and did other damage. Mr. Reed, hotel keeper, was fatally hurt and another woman and child killed. About the same time a small cyclone with a veritable water spout passed through the eastern part of the county later in the day but did little damage except by drowning out stock. The cloud as it approached Chase was funnel-shaped, whirling and twisting with fearful velocity. All inhabitants of Chase were more or less hurt. Among losers are Eckles Bros., storeroom destroyed with $2000 worth of goods; S. D. Shatters' storeroom and residence, loss $3000; Sutton, Hower & [illegible]'s storeroom and lumber, several thousand dollars; the F. Miller, new two story business house, $1800; Congregational church, $1600; Reed's hotel was blown down, and the Methodist church, dedicated Sunday, twisted a quarter of the way around and badly wrecked. Several houses were overturned and Muscott Bros.' store damaged and stock ruined. Spire's drug store was blown off its foundation. The depot was unroofed and several parties killed, names not given. The people are living in the cars and many destitute.

A Michigan Zephyr.

Chicago, April 7.—A Journal's special says: A terrific tornado passed through the township of Kalamo, Eaton county, Michigan, last night, and did immense damage to houses and barns, and killing a large amount of live stock. Several lives are reported lost and many injured. The place is remote from travel and telegraph.

A special from Clyde station, Michigan, reports a terrible hurricane near Highland station, on the Flint and Pere Marquette road, south of Holly, early last night. The extent of damage is unknown, as the telegraph line was blown down and the railroad agent walked to Clyde to send what he knew. The dwelling of a man named Crandall was blown down and Crandall and one child killed, and a daughter severely injured. A guest, Mrs. Taylor of Pontiac, was killed and several other persons injured. The hurricane covered an area of less than half a mile wide, but leveled everything within its path. There are reports also of high and destructive winds and heavy rains in the vicinity of Keokuk, and along the Wabash and Rock Island roads in Iowa at Keosauqua and Humeston.

Later particulars of the Oakland county storm state that Lafayette Crandall, his sister's little boy and Mrs. Henry Tyler were killed, and his little girl's arm badly crushed, so as to require amputation. Miss Ovear Ward was also injured. The debris looks like an explosion, everything being ground to atoms. One horse was blown out of a barn and found in a distant field covered with mud. An idiot sister of Horace Sherman of Kalamo was killed and another sister's leg broken. His wife's jaw was dislocated and the whole family carried fifty rods and thrown into a swamp and badly bruised.

Tornado at Midland, Michigan.

East Saginaw, Mich., April 7.—About 5 o'clock last night a tornado swept over the territory northeast of Midland village, 20 miles west of here, doing considerable damage. The residence of a farmer named E. E. Walton was picked up bodily and capsized, tearing it into pieces. The wreck took fire from the stove and burned. The family were all injured, Mrs. Walton severely. A hired man had his shoulder broken and a child had an arm broken. The barn was torn into shreds and other property in the neighborhood damaged. The house of a man named Wood, living on Sturgeon creek, was blown down and Wood severely hurt.

Still Another Storm.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 7.—A severe hail storm passed over this region yesterday afternoon. At Kendall on the South Haven road, it was a regular cyclone. Mr. Wild's house was blown down and he was killed and his wife and a friend injured. Other buildings were unroofed. The cyclone moved east across the northern part of the county, unroofing barns and doing other damage. It is rumored that a man was killed in Cooper township.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

Notes of the James Gang.

St. Joseph, April 7.—The Ford boys to-day received a threatening letter from a party signing himself "Nemo," alias "Memo," enclosed in an official envelop of the Tennessee legislature, and dated Nashville, April 4th. The letter is written in pencil and vows bitter and bloody vengeance upon Robert for killing Jesse. The Ford boys are in excellent spirits and are treated royally by friends and admirers. Both are confident the body of the dead outlaw will be robbed after burial. Robert admits he regrets the killing of James and says he only did it for fun. He would have shot James if he had known he would be sent to the penitentiary for a year, as James would have killed him if he learned of his connection with detectives. The boys talk defiantly regarding the Nashville letter. They sat for photographs to-day. Orders for likenesses are pouring in from every direction, especially from New York. They speak in the highest terms of Mrs. James, and are not apprehensive of their future. Mrs. Samuels stated to some friends to-day that Kansas City parties had offered a large sum for her son's body, which offer she indignantly rejected.

St. Louis, April 7.—Capt. Ford, brother of Bob and Charley, who have cut so a conspicuous a figure in the death of the outlaw James, was in St. Joseph to-day accompanied by attorneys and had an interview with his brothers in jail. The body of Wood Hite, brother of Clarence Hite, now in the penitentiary for participation in the Wilson train robbery has been found near Richmond and an inquest is being held. It has been understood Dick Little killed Hite, but it is believed Bob Ford was also concerned in the murder. He was shot through the head and buried by Bob Ford and Dick Little in a spring near the Ford farm. It is not unlikely both Little and Ford will be arrested for the murder.

Jesse James' Funeral.

Kearney, Mo., April 7.—The burial of Jesse James at his old home was a pathetic scene. There was a great attendance from the surrounding country.

Frank James' Location.

St. Joseph, April 7.—Many persons believe that Frank James is in this vicinity with some of his old gang.

Discharged.

Independence, Mo., April 7.—The prosecuting attorney this afternoon asked to have the indictment of Bugler and others for participation in the Blue Cut train robbery dismissed, being satisfied of their innocence.

LaSalle Criminal Notes.

LaSalle, Ills., April 7.—Newport Campbell, an insane man, who shot Jas. R. Gott of Boston, seriously, was found dead in a ditch yesterday evening, having drowned in 18 inches of water.

Frederick Markles of Pittsburg, was robbed on the railroad of a satchel, Wednesday night, containing $100,000 in mining stocks, by a blind man called Davis, who got off the train here. Davis was arrested yesterday in the Harrison House with the securities in a basket. He with a boy was engaged in burning them in a stove. He had destroyed $25,000 in this way.

Bloodshed Feared.

Athens, Ga., April 7.—Walter Roundtree, a university student, was fatally shot by Frank Johnson and Enoch C. Rhols, colored, to-day. Great excitement prevails. The negroes are defiant and determined to rescue Johnson and Rhols from jail. Citizens and students are calm and decided in opposition. Bloodshed is feared.

Killed his Son.

New York, April 7.—Theodore Gebhart while drunk quarreled with his wife and ordered a nine-year-old son out for beer. His wife refused to permit the boy to go, when the father brained the boy with a hammer and then cut his own throat.

Wife Murder.

Pittsburg, April 7.—This morning Joseph Hess, an aged man, a saloon keeper of Allegheny, deliberately shot his wife dead and then ineffectually attempted suicide. He refuses to assign any cause. His daughter says it was jealousy.

On a False Scent.

St. Louis, April 7.—The police believe they have at last captured old man Bender. The arrest was made Tuesday, but the affair kept secret. When arrested Bender gave the name of John Buells.

Attempted to Drown his Wife.

Bois D'Arc, Mo., April 7.—Haschall Hazeltine, brother of the congressman, attempted to drown his wife, owing to a quarrel about the control of her property to-day. He failed and fled. If he returns he will probably be lynched.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Death of Frederick Barker.

London, April 7.—Right Rev Frederick Barker, D. D., bishop of Sydney, New South Wales, and metropolitan in Australia, died at San Remo, Italy, to-day.

The Jewish Relief Fund.

London, April 7.—The house fund for the relief of suffering Jews in Russia, amounts to £30,000.

A Fenian Escaped.

Dublin, April 7.—An important fenian recently escaped in an American vessel and the police followed closely, but were unable to arrest him.

Action on the Jewish Question.

Vienna, April 7.—Russian authorities are taking great precautions against renewal of anti-Jewish disturbances at Easter. Two thousand one hundred persons with unsatisfactory papers have been expelled from Kieff.

Trouble in Spain.

Madrid, April 7.—A correspondent states that a naval division arrived at Barcelona, and also three brigades of the army of the Basque provinces. An anonymous proclamation has been circulated encouraging tradesmen of Barcelona to persevere in their attitude of opposition to the Franco-Spanish treaty.

A Criminal Confesses.

Brussels, April 7.—It is stated that Leon Peltzer confesses he assassinated Bernays, the Antwerp barrister, and denies that his brother, Armand, is guilty of the crime.

A Bad Impression Created.

Berlin, April 7.—A bad impression is produced here by the nomination of Delianoff, as Russian minister of public instruction. The new minister belongs to the section of violent Slavophiles.

Sweden's Share of the War.

Stockholm, April 7.—The Dagblad says Sweden has engaged to invade Finland in the event of war between Russia and Germany.

Purely Official.

Cleveland Herald.

The official mourning for Garfield has ceased. In the inner Guiteau stalwart circles the mourning was never anything but official.

Mr. M. Goodin, Belmont Park, Pa., recently wrote to a correspondent of the Philadelphia Times, as follows: I have given St. Jacobs Oil a trial on sores and fresh wounds of horses, and find it to relieve the soreness in a few hours. It is invaluable to all owners of horses, especially of fine stock.

THE CHINESE QUESTION.

The Latest Comments on the President's Veto.

THREE NEW BILLS INTRODUCED IN THE HOUSE.

A Pacific Coast Gentleman Publishes Some New Points on the Chinese Subject.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Washington, April 7.—A Pacific coast republican who does not care at present to commit himself in open antagonism to the president upon the Chinese question, to-day furnished some interesting facts bearing upon the question which do not seem to have been presented in debate. He said: "The president, in his reference to [illegible] of the commissioners who negotiated the treaty, was not altogether frank. He did not state what is the fact, that he referred to the opinion of the minority of American commissioners who framed the Angell treaty. The report of the proceedings of the commissioners will show the fact that in his discussion of the passport question the president overlooked two very important points. They are that the Chinese Six Companies have already flanked the Pacific states and already established a depot upon the Pacific coast on the northern boundary of Washington, and are about to establish one upon the Mexican border, through which it will be easy to import coolies. A Chinaman who has been naturalized as an American citizen has a very large farm upon Puget Sound, just over the northern border. That farm is really owned by the Six Companies and the pretended ownership by this Chinaman is simply a cover for the Six Companies, and is an expedient for landing coolies at Vancouver Island and Puget Sound and then importing them into the United States, for the reason that opposition had become so great in San Francisco as to make importation accompanied with some hazard. Accordingly this large farm is used as a practical coolie depot from which the Six Companies, as occasion may require, and as railroads and other enterprises may need organized servile labor, and make drafts by this means. The Six Companies have flanked California upon the north, and they are now endeavoring to establish similar relations upon the south by industrial conquest of Mexico. The Six Companies expect to make use of thousands of these coolies in the construction of new railroad enterprises which are now projected in Mexico, and those who are interested in the Mexican enterprises also have been active indirectly in Washington in aiding to defeat the bill, and if the truth should be known, I think you would find the hand of Gould and other railway magnates in the movement, which not only has its object in the industrial conquest of the Pacific Coast by Chinese, but mongolization of Spanish-America.

"What, I ask, do you think of the suggestions of the president's veto message relative to reprisals in China?

"The president's talk about reprisals is not founded upon full information. Every American is in China by virtue, not simply of treaties of the United States, but treaties of all western nations with China. The most favored nation clause is in all these treaties, and an attempt to exclude Americans from China, would be resisted strenuously by Great Britain, Germany and France, as such an act would indicate that the time might come when other foreigners would share the same fate, but there is not the slightest fear that the Chinese government will do anything of the kind. There are not 400 Americans in all the treaty ports of China. In 1878, according to the Hongkong directory, there were 367 Americans, including officials, missionaries and merchants, in all the Asiatic countries of Japan, China and Cochin China. Outside of officials and merchants, there are not quite 5000 Europeans and Americans combined."

At to-day's meeting of the senate committee on foreign relations, a disposition was developed on the part of one or two democratic members to delay or prevent any material modification of the terms of the vetoed Chinese bill, and thus either force another veto, or wholly postpone the passage of a new bill. A similar desire is manifested in the house of representatives to-day, by Springer and several other democratic members. Finally, however, all objections were withdrawn and three Chinese bills were introduced; the first by Page for suspension of ten years; another by Berry for suspension of sixteen years, and a third by Willis for fifteen years. Senator Miller had a talk with the president this morning, and says he now knows that a ten-year bill will be promptly approved. The president's incidental objection to the passport and registration system can be readily obviated by a few changes which will not impair the bill's practical efficiency.

Senators Fair and Farley on the Veto.

Washington, April 7.—Senator Fair of Nevada, in conversation to-day, said: "The president's veto will be looked upon by our people as very hard treatment on the part of the president. It certainly was unexpected, and there is no question as to its being of benefit to the democratic party in Nevada, California and Oregon. These states are composed of people from every section of the union, and when this bill was passed they naturally appreciated the position and hoped to be relieved of this curse of Chinese labor. Now the one man power puts this all away and therefore makes it all the harder, and the disappointment more bitter. I feel for those people, for the working men are simple in their habits and honest in their purposes. I really do not see how they are to stand a continuance of this evil. Why, for twenty-two years we have endured this torture of Chinese labor, and when this bill was passed we looked upon it as a measure for our relief. Now to be dumped right back into the fields of Egyptian pottery is too much for human nature to stand. When we asked for this relief we made no unreasonable demand. It was nothing but what was due us; but we knew better than any other people remote from us what a curse this Chinese labor was. We know better than the people of the east what we need. Labor should be protected. Its wants are simple, for its pursuits are methodical, reliable and honorable. This is not a political question. All parties are interested in this effort to do away with this curse of Chinese labor. As republicans have failed to do it, the people under lead of the democracy will do it by proper legislation."

Senator Farley, of California, said: "The effect of this veto on the country will be injurious, not only as to the Pacific, but also as to this coast. These people are allowed to come here and to compete with the labor of others. Their competition is ruinous to white labor. Politically, the veto will redound to the interest of democrats, not alone of the Pacific coast, but through the entire country, for there is throughout this land a strong feeling undeveloped, though it be in some localities, against Chinese labor and immigration. This feeling existed in Massachusetts."

Question for the Future.

New York, April 7.—A Commercial's Washington special says: A senator who called on the president to-day reports he found him in the best possible spirits over the veto of the Chinese bill and the reception accorded his message by the country. He said he felt assured the republican party would not be loser by the interposition of his veto to save the honor of the country in standing by the spirit and letter of the treaty with China.

He felt assured that in consequence of this veto American interests in China would be stronger than ever, and that the Chinese government would be more readily disposed to make concessions to the United States in the matter of restricting Chinese subjects from coming to the United States. On the whole, the senator reports that the president expressed himself as well pleased with his action, and as being confident that people will, without distinction of party, when the welfare of the country is involved, sanction him in what he has done.

Democrats Don't Like to Lose their Prestige.

Chicago, April 7.—Journal's Washington: Democrats will favor a bill with 15 years' limit in hope that if passed it may force another veto. As some republicans will refuse to vote for the ten years bill, the democrats scheme may succeed. Members are not at all anxious for the bill to come up again this session, and will oppose taking it out of its regular order, and action may be delayed a long time.

Angell's Opinion.

Detroit, April 7.—The late minister to China, Angell, being interviewed, thinks five years' suspension enough. He says there was no agreement on that point between the commissioners.

Journalistic Condemnation of the Veto.

Chicago, April 7.—Of some hundred papers looked over by your correspondent fully two-thirds are severe in condemnation of the president's veto.

FIRES.

St. Xavier Church Burned.

Cincinnati, April 7.—Everything combustible about St. Xavier church in this city was burned this morning, and nothing left but the empty tower and roofless walls. It is doubtful whether the walls will be fit for use in rebuilding. Loss, $150,000 to $200,000; insurance, $20,000. Services were held in the church last night, and it is supposed the fire started from candles left burning after service.

Glass Factory Burned.

Streator, Ill., April 7.—The Streator window-glass factory caught fire at 1 o'clock this afternoon and was totally destroyed with most of its contents. Loss, $70,000 to $80,000; insured with the Home, of New York, Hartford, of Conn., and other companies for $50,000.

Advertising and Commercial Travelers.

Louisville Commercial Interview with a Prominent Leather House.

"We have no traveling agents out, for the reason that we don't believe in them, and still we sell goods in Mexico and Oregon."

"How do you manage to secure such a far off trade?" inquired the reporter.

"Why, by advertising our business. I tell you that $1000 spent in advertising will bring in more orders than a $1000 a year agent would. I know what I'm talking about, and I think the sooner business men begin to realize this fact, the sooner they will prosper."

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

The Yamhill county jail at Lafayette has been empty for the past six months.

Yamhill farmers state that the late frosts killed the wild oats in the fall wheat.

Chas. [illegible] school [illegible] on Monday last with [illegible] at the Willamette falls. They were fine looking fish and in good condition.

The Oregon City woolen factory is [illegible] its force on the night shift. It is impossible to make goods enough to supply the demand.

Samuel Hughes, for many years a resident of Springwater, Clackamas county, died at the home of his son in Whitman county, W. T., on the 28th ult., aged 63 years.

The census and March apportionment of the school fund for Yamhill county is as follows: Total number scholars, 2980; amount of funds, $7659; amount per capita, $2 40.

J. W. Dorres, of Butte creek, has had ten acres of oak grub land cleared during the past winter. Geo. Cardew did the grubbing, and is now at work clearing another five-acre field for Mr. Dorres.

The Yamhill county district court closed last week, leaving almost a clean docket. The session lasted but four days. The grand jury found but three bills of indictment, and those of minor offenses.

The Odd Fellows of Yamhill county are beginning to move in preparation for their anniversary celebration on the 26th inst. Committees from each of the lodges in the county will meet in joint conference at Lafayette on Monday next, 10th inst., to decide upon what point the celebration shall be held, etc.

The walk between Oregon City and Canemah is in a very dilapidated condition, and some spots even dangerous. The railing is gone in some places for rods, and with the unevenness of the planking the pedestrian is liable to take a plunge in the waters of the basin. This naturally is one of the finest promenades and loveliest walks in Oregon, and should be kept in repair.

Washington Territory.

The proposition to build a $25,000 school house at Seattle was passed by a vote of 345 to 97.

Along the "flats" of the Swinomish, Samish and Nooksack, including the sloughs and rivers of the section in the rear of and adjacent to this point, which are accessible only at high tide, some hundreds of thrifty farmers, merchants and loggers live, whose total freight and produce in and out, amounts in value, at a moderate estimate, to half a million dollars a year.

About $900 has been subscribed toward clearing the Nooksack river. The river at the present time is navigable as far up as Ferndale, some 18 miles, with a comparatively good channel all the way. The jam in the river occurs a short distance above Lynden, at George Rehberger's, and is being overcome by cutting a canal across a bend in the river, a distance of about half a mile, the contract having been let for $1350. When this is completed vessels can run up 30 miles and tap one of the finest sections in the county. All is being done that money and hard labor can accomplish, and it will not be very long before they will be rewarded by having regular steamboat communication.

HOW CHASE BECAME CHIEF JUSTICE.

Charles Sumner's Reward from Kate Chase Sprague for his Influence.

Ben Perley Poore in Boston Journal.

I am asked from Boston whether President Lincoln ever tendered the chief justiceship of the United States to Charles Sumner, and I answer, no! Chief Justice Taney died in October, 1864, and Mr. Sumner immediately urged the president to appoint as his successor Mr. Chase, who had resigned the secretaryship of the treasury some three months before. There was thus much dissatisfaction with Mr. Lincoln's administration, and the friends of Mr. Chase were openly and secretly urging his nomination. When Mr. Sumner came to Washington he renewed his request that Mr. Chase be appointed, and he had several interviews with Mr. Lincoln on the subject. One day Mr. Lincoln suggested that he send for Mr. Chase and frankly tell him that he wanted to nominate him as chief justice, and that he (Chase) would make the greatest and best chief justice the country had ever had, if he would only give up the idea of being elected president. Mr. Sumner replied that such a statement, however frank it might be, would never answer, as it would not only expose him (Mr. Lincoln) to criticism as wishing to purchase an opponent, but it would be offensive to Mr. Chase, as an attempt to extort from him a pledge that he would never be a candidate for the presidency. Mr. Lincoln, who was quick witted, saw the force of Mr. Sumner's argument, and pleasantly said—"Well take this card and write upon it the name of the man you desire to have appointed." Mr. Sumner wrote, "Salmon P. Chase," and Salmon P. Chase was promptly nominated on the 6th of December, 1864. Mr. Sumner urged the immediate confirmation of the appointment, and having carried it from the senate chamber, hastened to congratulate the new chief justice. As he came out of the room in which he had conveyed the news, he met Mrs. Kate Sprague, who shook her index finger at him, and said: "And you, too, Mr. Sumner? Are you in this business of shelving papa? But never mind, I will defeat you all!" Mr. Sumner used to relate this incident as showing how he had been rewarded for what he regarded as one of the most praiseworthy acts of his life. Beside, Mr. Lincoln was not the only candidate for the presidential chair who would lose a rival by the appointment of Judge Chase. Mr. Sumner had strong aspirations in that direction, but I don't think he regarded the bench of the supreme court as a stepping stone toward the white house. Had the senate found Mr. Johnson guilty on the impeachment charges, and had Ben Wade thus become president, Mr. Sumner would have been his secretary of state, and I am not sure that this did not influence Mr. Fessenden in his vote of "Not guilty." Had Gen. Grant offered the same position, it would have been accepted with the understanding that he was to direct the foreign policy of the country untrammeled.

Improved Firearms.

San Francisco Chronicle.

When the war of the rebellion closed the United States had the finest army and navy in the world, and was supreme in every appliance of warfare. Not only were our armored ships the strongest, but our artillery was the most effective, while all the more notable improvements in small arms were covered by American patents. Our supremacy in arms has passed away. We have had little need of weapons since the great conflict, and the ingenuity of our workers in arms has not been stimulated by the necessities of the government. But the effects of American inventions are still seen in every camp, fort and arsenal in Europe. The Russian armies are chiefly supplied with the Berdan rifle, which was invented by an American officer, though it is now manufactured abroad. The English infantry use the Snyder, the invention of a Philadelphian, now made in English armories. The cavalry of several foreign countries carries the Winchester, which is of American make and manufacture. The Turkish infantry are armed with Martini-Henry rifles, a foreign invention with American improvements, made at Providence, R. I.

France has discarded the chassepot for the Gras, in Prussia the Mauser has supplanted the needle gun, which won the field of Sadowa, and in Austria the Kropatschek alone is used, which is terrible as well by its execution as by its appalling name. In Spain, Denmark and Chile the Remington, an American small arm, is used, while the militia of Norway is supplied with the Krag, a home-made weapon of native invention. It can hardly be said that any one of these arms excels another in efficiency. Each embodies all the latest improvements, and the exigencies of European politics allow no carelessness in the making. None of them can be truly said to be longer in range, or with the exception of the Winchester, which is a repeater, to be capable of more rapid firing than the others.

The European states are fitted with the various small arms which have been approved by their respective governments. In the Russian army the [illegible] Germany, [illegible] Mauser, Turkey, [illegible] Spain, [illegible] Weapons. Of the Winchester there are used [illegible] about 1866, and in all the South American [illegible]

It will be seen from these figures that the weakest of the European countries as well as the most powerful, are prepared to take a hand in any war which may break out on the continent. The revolver, an American invention, and specially an small arm, is used by the military of every civilized nation, though it now nearly always bears foreign names. The only exception is the Smith & Wesson, which has the official indorsement of Russia, and is supplied to all her armies.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

The Chinese Agitation in California.

San Francisco, April 7.—The effect of the veto continues the principal topic for consideration in political circles. Democrats expect to capture many votes among republicans of the dissatisfied class, but their leaders propose to take no chances of a walk over on that account, and are making every effort to effect a solid organization. The first feeling of despondency among republicans is giving place to a belief that the disposition shown by democrats in congress to obstruct further consideration of the Chinese question will react against them. It is reported that active steps are being taken in this city to organize anti-coolie clubs having in view local action against the Chinese, and some indiscreet persons are talking of violent measures and hinting at armed organization. It is questionable how much backing there may be to such talk.

Washed Into the Sea.

John Clark, mate of the schooner H. L. Tiernan, which, after missing stays, struck on Mile rock and was subsequently run ashore at Lime point, was washed off Mile rock on which he jumped at the time the vessel struck and was drowned. A sailor named B. Sheehan was also washed overboard a few minutes later and drowned. Neither of the bodies have been recovered. The only things saved from the wreck have been sails, rigging, etc. The vessel is estimated to be worth $8000.

Accidentally Killed.

San Francisco, April 7.—Herman T. Singer, an employe of Holbrook, Merrill & Stetson, wholesale stove dealers, corner of Market and Beale streets, was killed this afternoon by a piece of machinery falling upon him.

Charles J. Kohler, employed in Bancroft's printing house on Market street, this morning fell through the elevator hatch on the fifth floor and was almost instantly killed.

Suicide.

Joseph Oswald, recently employed in the California market, committed suicide at his lodgings, 636 Commercial street, to-day by taking arsenic. He lost his situation from dissipation.

Minor Notes.

A heavy sleet storm is reported east of Cheyenne, and but little prospect of overland news to-night.

Hanged in Effigy.

Victoria, April 7.—The deadlock in the house to-day was broken by one of the opposition going to the government side and voting against a vote of want of confidence in it. It is thought the business will now proceed without further interruption.

REMOVAL OF THE 21ST INFANTRY.

Vancouver Independent.

There has been a rumor for some weeks that the 21st Infantry is to be transferred from the department of the Columbia to the east in the course of the coming summer. Before announcing this to our readers we called on General Morrow, colonel of the regiment, and made inquiry as to the ground of the rumor, and as to the station east which the regiment will be likely to occupy in the event of a change. The general said in substance about as follows: That the regiment would undoubtedly leave this department next summer; that information to that effect had been received from sources which left no doubt on his mind of its accuracy; that he believed the regiment would go to the department of the Lakes, with headquarters at Detroit. This was based not only on report that such was in contemplation by the war department, but on the further fact that the regiment seemed to him to have, by reason of long and arduous service on the Pacific coast, a claim to go there. The 21st Infantry came here in 1869, and in the 13 years which have since intervened it has served in Arizona against the Apache Indians, and in Oregon and Washington against Modoc, Nez Perce and Bannock Indians—four campaigns. The campaign against the Nez Perces, under the command of Captain Evan Miles, was one of the hardest in annals of Indian warfare. No greater march—nearly 2000 miles—was ever made in America than was made by the troops, especially the 21st Infantry, in the pursuit of the Nez Perces. We should have to go to the pages of Xenophon to find its parallel. Gen. Morrow thought, in view of the conspicuous services of the regiment and its 13 years of campaigning and toil on the most remote frontier, it would be ordered for a tour of duty at the east. The long leaves of absence, on half pay, required, and the enormous expense attending 4000 miles of travel in order to reach the east, had made it impossible for persons in the military service to go east in person or to send their children there to be educated. A trip from this department to New York and return costs about $400. Few officers or soldiers can afford such an outlay, and the result has been that this long service here has been equivalent to partial expatriation, aside from the privations and hardships incident to army life in this region of half-built posts and constant labor. It is noticeable, too, that through all this the regiment has preserved an excellent state of discipline. There has been but one court-martial of an officer in 13 years. The editor endorses the remarks of Col. Morrow, uttered in a laudable pride in his noble regiment, and the people of Oregon and Washington territory will endorse them also. The 21st Infantry has won golden opinions from our people for its services in this section of the country.

AN INSANE REVIVAL.

Queer Proceedings of a Minister and his Flock in an Ohio Village.

The Methodist church at North Lewisburg, Ohio has been the scene of a remarkable "revival," but which at last assumed such a cast that about twenty people, including the pastor, Mr. Hayward, actually became insane. The most extravagant shouting, posturing, groaning and crying were indulged in from morning till night and from night till morning, with but the briefest intervals for rest. At last the pastor announced that his wife, who has been in delicate health for some time, must die on a certain day, to be resurrected a week later, and to witness this occurrence the house of the minister was crowded. Mrs. Hayward was arrayed in her night-clothes laid on the door of the parlor, and her form covered by a sheet that was to answer as a shroud. A few hours previous to this she had been as well as a woman could be in her condition, but as the hour drew nigh she seemed to become seriously ill. Around her couch circled that devoted band, driven stark mad by religious frenzy, and the praying, sobbing, screaming and singing began. The husband at this stage of the proceedings was even crazier than he had ever been. He went to an upper story of his house to get a razor with which to cut his wife's throat, but was followed by some cool-headed neighbor, who meant to see that no violence was attempted. As he entered the room in which his wife lay, a glimpse of reason seemed to enter his clouded mind, and in an affectionate tone he said, "The Lord says thou shalt not kill." Throwing aside the weapon, he prostrated himself beside his wife, and pressed his head and face upon the neck of the poor woman, all the time praying God to come and take his wife, and thus fulfill the Divine prophecy. This occurrence alarmed the most sober members, and they telegraphed for the presiding elder to come, and, if possible, put a stop to the excitement. He came and declared to them that it was the work of the devil, and they must stop it at once. "There is no religion about such flummery," said he. "By your disgraceful actions you have put the Methodist church in this town back twenty years. Go back to your homes every one of you." At first the more frenzied refused to obey, but by and by they retired, and now most of them admit that they were deceived.

THE NEW COMET.

It will be a Magnificent Object in the Northern Sky this Summer.

A new comet was discovered by Mr. Charles S. Wells, of the Dudley observatory, Albany, New York, on the 18th of March. It appeared as a very bright, small object in the constellation Hercules, with a tail about one-fifth of the moon in length. The discovery was announced by telegraph to the world, since which nothing has been said about it.

It appears, however, from two subsequent observations taken at the observatory, and a rough computation of its orbit, that this comet is likely to make something of a sensation before we have done with it. It is approaching the earth—or the earth and comet are approaching each other—at the rate of 2,500,000 miles a day. It is at present some 150,000,000 of miles from the earth, and 160,000,000 from the sun, toward which it is traveling at an accelerated rate, and will continue to do so until about the middle of June, when it will pass its perihelion, at a distance from the sun of less than 10,000,000 miles.

But few comets are known to have approached the sun so nearly, but no apprehensions are felt that it will not be able to swing clear of the orb of day, and shoot off into space again with amazing rapidity. Fortunately, its greatest brilliancy will happen at a time when it will be visible in the northern hemisphere, but after passing its perihelion it is likely to appear, like the great comet of 1861, in the northern sky, and for some time be an object of surpassing interest. Further observations may correct some of these estimates of the development, but it is certain it [illegible] of celestial manifestations during the summer months.

A bill passed relieving from charge of desertion volunteers during the late war who served faithfully until the expiration of their term of enlistment, but failed to be mustered out.

JUDICIAL DISTRICTS.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

I should have said attach Douglas to the first judicial district, Linn to the second and Clackamas and Washington to the third. Multnomah ought to constitute a district, but Columbia and Clatsop are so situated that they cannot be detached. This arrangement of the districts will avoid the creation of a new one, while the business of the first three will still be light, and that of the fourth sufficiently relieved.

Do Not Stop with Garfield.

From the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

If the secret or confidential correspondence of the war period is to be published, why limit the field to the letters of Garfield? Why not publish in the same connection the confidential and unofficial letters of Seward, Chase, Blair, Stanton, Mr. C. A. Dana and others? The letters of the last named would be particularly interesting just now. Some of them would be so comforting to his fellow democrats.

A Troy paper having spoken of a man who was "capable of earning handsome wages as a lather," the Press of that city ingeniously responds: "Will somebody please help us with that last word? We don't know whether to pronounce it lather, or lather or lather? Does it mean the emollient used by a barber, or is it one who uses a lathe, or one who puts on laths?"

Sheep men of Eastern Oregon are inclined to doubt the story recently published to the effect that the 60,000,000 sheep owned in the Argentine republic are nearly all the descendants of one bull. They say no newspaper can ram any such story down their throats.

GRATEFUL WOMEN.

None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all readily removed by these Bitters.—Courant.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties avoid stimulants and use Hop Bitters.

If you are young and suffering from any indiscretion or dissipation; if you are married or single, old or young, suffering from poor health or languish on a bed of sickness, rely on Hop Bitters.

Whoever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take Hop Bitters.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver or nerves? You will be cured if you use Hop Bitters.

If you are simply weak and low spirited, try it! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

If you are a man of letters toiling over your midnight work, to restore brain nerve and waste, use Hop B.

Thousands die annually from some form of Kidney disease that might have been prevented by a timely use of Hop Bitters.

D. I. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco, or narcotics.

Sold by druggists. Send for Circular.

SATURDAY MORNING APRIL 8 1882

THE UNDERLYING PRINCIPLE OF THE CHINESE QUESTION

A Washington correspondent reports that when the president was told that his veto would cost the republican party their control of the Pacific states he answered that "if any party would reap any advantage from executive disapproval of a bill which involves American principles that have been in vogue two hundred years it would be the party in the long run which stood on true American ground." In the east Pacific coast people for their support of the bill to restrict Chinese immigration are charged with recreancy to the fundamental principles of the republic a charge which is repeated by the president himself. To cure this antipathy to the Chinese in these states it is proposed at the east to insist on admission of the Chinese to naturalization to be followed by bestowal of the right of suffrage. As a matter of fact the Chinese among us do not want either citizenship or the suffrage, and not one in a hundred would avail himself of these privileges if he could. But at the east people do not know this. The New York Nation, which is an organ of eastern opinion, says "The more we examine the Chinese problem on the Pacific coast, the more satisfied we become that the whole anti-Chinese movement, in so far as it is political is the result of the judicial decision which denied to Chinamen the quality of being 'free white persons' for purposes of naturalization under the United States statute, although the statute expressly admits to citizenship the savages of the African continent, as well as our native blacks. If even 3000 Chinamen had been naturalized in California, and had been voters during the past ten years, it is all but certain that neither the democratic nor republican politicians would have discovered the horrors of Chinese immigration, or have ventured to plant passports, and alien registries, and disqualification by race and color, on American soil. In fact, they would probably be by this time as anxious to deny all hostility to Chinamen as they are now to conceal that they ever favored negro slavery, or belonged to a Know Nothing lodge." The same general assertion has been made by Mr. Seward, and both the Nation and Mr. Seward appear to think that it is a very formidable indictment, and that it somehow shows the Chinese bill to be a bad measure.

The Sacramento Record-Union answers this most effectively. "It admits, indeed, that the position is a strong one in some respects, as it is [illegible] to say that if the Chinaman could have voted it would have made no difference as to the movement against him. It would have made a great difference. If he could have voted, if he could have been naturalized, and if he had shown a disposition to become a citizen, it is, we think, as certain as anything can be, that the politicians would have declined to make a dead set at him as they have done. In fact we may admit the substantial accuracy of the Nation's statement that if even 3000 Chinamen had been voters there would have been no political anti-Chinese movement. But this does not show that the anti-Chinese movement was wrong. It only shows that our system of government almost compels politicians to truckle to every voting element, merely and solely because it is a voting element. The Nation is really making an argument against universal suffrage, and not against the Chinese bill, when it declares that the possession of the ballot would have protected the Chinese against adverse legislation; for, supposing this to be true, it only shows that we have adopted a scheme of naturalization so loose that it may at any time enable an alien element, all of whose purposes are hostile to American civilization, to paralyze our government, and prevent it from defending itself against the encroachments and injuries inflicted by that element."

But in eastern publications there is an occasional display of sound judgment on the question. The Popular Science Monthly for April has an elaborate article entitled, "Chinese Immigration—A Sociological Study," written to show how the differences and contrasts in the characters of Chinese and European peoples, vastly older than their history, and which is now the same as when their histories began, constitute the underlying and vital questions involved in Chinese immigration. As nations are the necessary product of their parts—as the government is, so it is because the people are—the argument is urged that a certain degree of homogeneity is necessary to secure peace and permanence. A majority of the people must have sentiments, instincts, and temperaments as nearly similar as possible, where a difference in circumstances, occupations and position is necessary. It is a constant strain upon the coherence of a nation, where the parts are of different civilizations. The introduction of the Chinese into our American society would be a union of different civilizations and different races. Each would stand by itself, from being too different to appreciate the other. They would be united only in the common interests of protection to life and property, and would defeat those primary objects by differing so fundamentally as to the method of their accomplishment. Very little assimilation could take place. If the immigration should be so small—though there are reasons for believing it would not be—that the American population would always be in a large majority, there would still result the establishment of a non-assimilable class, that would be looked upon as an inferior caste, and would be ruled without regard to their wishes or interests. Such a class, in a republican government, would be as much of an anomaly, and as impossible of permanence, as the institution of slavery.

The Spanish invasion of Mexico is cited as affording an illustration of the distinctive results following the union of different civilizations. The Mexicans were a homogeneous people, having similar wants, instincts, and capabilities. Undisturbed by foreign influence they were slowly developing to a higher stage of civilization—a condition of greater good for a larger number. In the sixteenth century there was every indication of an increasing population and an advancing intellectual state. The mixed population to-day of the valley of Anahuac is but a fraction of the numbers who opposed the arms of Cortes. The Spaniards and the Aztecs were too unlike to be brought harmoniously into one society. The government and customs of neither were suited to both. Forced together as they were there could only result a struggle for supremacy and the gradual assimilation of the more yielding characters of each. Passions and vices were earlier the habits of mankind than reason and virtue: the former were, therefore, the more constant, the latter the more readily destroyed. The mental characters and customs were more alike also among primitive than among advanced societies, and would more readily assimilate. So we find, for many generations after the union, that the new society is lower in the scale of civilization than were either of the parts which composed it.

The union of the civilizations of China and America, which differ as the races differ would produce a society with parts so fundamentally antagonistic that permanent national existence—for which homogeneity is necessary—would be impossible. Assimilation could be effected only by the gradual and slow change of the more yielding character of each. In the involuntary conflict ensuing, those characters which originated before the dawn of an ancient history and have been strengthened through the inheritance of unnumbered generations would persist with greater force than those new and changing characters which seem by comparison like the fashions of a season. If the further development of our civilization is to be desured, it must be guarded from the retarding influence of a different race. If our institutions and government are worthy of preservation they must be protected from a people who represent in all the instincts of their nature different feelings and forms. If we ignore the plain teachings of history upon the effect of the mingling of societies composed of different races or having different civilizations and assume that [illegible] individuals will learn only from their own experience the experience is likely to come too late for us to profit by it.

This discussion it will be seen is placed upon the broadest possible grounds. It does not include examination of the incidental phases of the question (as the effect of competition in labor) which most engage attention to-day. No one who has had actual contact with Asiatics supposes they can ever assimilate with the body of our people as Europeans readily do. A Chinaman and his descendants will always be Chinese and nothing else. They never can be wrought and kneaded into the body of the American people; they will be aliens here forever without the slightest interest in our government or its institutions, excrescences on the body politic constituting no part of our national or social strength but weakening the whole structure as a spear head embedded in a living body inflames all the parts around it.

AN UNWISE PROPOSITION

Senator Pendleton is trying very hard to keep himself before the people. He wants it understood that Senator Pendleton would be a good man for the democratic presidential nomination in 1884. He betrays himself by too much zeal. The latest claim he has urged upon public attention is in the shape of a joint resolution of congress to submit a constitutional amendment providing for the election of postmasters and several other minor government officials. The amendment he proposes is:

Sec 1 Postmasters, marshals district attorneys of the United States clerks of courts inferior to the supreme court and all such other civil officers of the United States exercising executive or ministerial power within the several states and territories and districts composed of the whole or part of any state or territory as congress may designate, shall be elected by the people of the several districts, and the electors of each district shall have the qualification of electors of the most numerous branch of the legislature of the state and territory in which such district is established.

Sec 2 Congress shall have power to provide for the establishment of districts in the several states and territories in which such elections shall be held, for the suspension or removal of such officers, for filling temporarily all vacancies which may happen, for filling offices until an election can be held and to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Sec 3 The time, places and manner of holding such elections under this article shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof but congress may at any time, by law, alter such regulations.

Senator Pendleton's proposition is not new. It has often been considered by statesmen and by the public, and the almost uniform conclusion has been that the disadvantages of electing local administrative officials by popular vote would greatly outweigh all the advantages that could result from such a system. There are far too many elections now. Politics have come to be a trade for a great tribe of unscrupulous bummers. The people have almost abandoned the business of "affairs" to local bosses and professional party managers. The people have discovered how useless it is to fight with organized professional forces. The undertaking is so hopeless that the good citizen as a rule, not merely abandons it in despair, but relapses into a sour or cynical indifference to all elections. To add the responsibility of choosing 50,000 postmasters and thousands of marshals clerks, revenue collectors and other local officials representing the national government would serve only to intensify bummerism and caucus packing, and increase public lethargy or despair in public matters instead of arousing the people to new efforts for the purification of politics and the public service.

Mr. Gladstone recently proposed in the house of commons to increase the allowance of Prince Leopold, the queen's youngest son. Samuel Storey (radical) objected, saying that he was opposed to "spending public money in support of titled idleness." No complaint that the liberty of speech is restricted is possible when such an utterance can be made in parliament without rebuke. In spite of the speeches against the grant, the measure giving the queen's youngest son an additional annuity of $50,000, and his widow an annual pension of $30,000 in the event of his death, was passed by a vote of 387 to 42. It is significant that Sir Charles Dilke, Postmaster-General Fawcett and Macaulay's friend, George Otto Trevelyan, abstained from voting, but an overwhelming majority of the members evidently felt that as generous provision for Prince Leopold should be made as for others of the queen's sons. However, the phrase "titled idleness" is thought to be the product of a strong current of British sentiment against maintaining an aristocracy in England. It is said that Gladstone's purpose to restore the county franchise is designed to establish local government and wrest power from the aristocratic class. He is constantly charged with having an old grudge against the house of lords, and it is hinted that he does not enjoy the cordial approval of the queen because she considers him too democratic in his principles. That he is disposed to deal justly by every class is evident to every impartial student of his career, but that he wishes the people to have more power and the aristocratic class less is undoubtedly true. The "People's William" is the popular title which he has won, and the influence of his career in the strengthening of public sentiment against what Mr. Storey denominates "titled idleness" is an interesting subject for study.

At the beginning of the present century Isaac Burr, a New York merchant, was compelled to take in payment of a debt of $3000 eight acres of land situated above Madison square, and at the time quite out of the city. It seemed to the new owner rather a poor offset to his claim, but was better than nothing. As the land was quite in the country, Burr built a country house there and occupied it in the summer with his family. The estate constituted a small farm. The property finally came into possession of the three daughters, none of whom ever married. The last of these three daughters—Sarah Burr—recently died. The property which the original Burr took for a debt of $3000 is worth something over $5 000 000 to-day. It is remarkable that nearly the whole of it will finally be distributed in legacies to charitable objects.

China last year sold this country goods worth $22 308 908, invoice valuation and this country sold goods to China worth $5,447,281 or less than one-quarter as much. This is the state of our trade with China which commercial statesmen of the east say is of so great value. We buy from China four times as much as we are able to sell her and the profits are on her side yet in eastern commercial circles the pretense is set up that if we suspend Chinese immigration we shall make the Chinese so angry that they won't sell us their surplus products for money when we are ready to pay the highest price. We shall however get all the tea firecrackers and gimcracks from China that we offer the money for whether we allow the Chinese to come to this country or not.

Democrats in both branches of congress are already evincing a purpose to force the new Chinese immigration bill into a shape which will bring another veto or postpone the whole subject for this session. They will favor and probably will insist on suspension for the term of sixteen years believing that the president will interpose another veto substantially on the same ground as before—namely that the term is too long. Senator Miller of California who has had an interview with the president, says that a ten years bill would be promptly approved. [illegible] through all.

There seems to be [illegible] senate committee on pensions [illegible] bill providing that [illegible] 1881 [illegible] regular personal attendance [illegible] $24 a month and shall be paid the difference between said sums monthly from the date of such pension [illegible] to the time of passage of this bill. It also provides that hereafter the rate of pension for such disability shall be [illegible] per month.

GOOD FOR SORE EYES.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT IN JUNE, 1881 I had acute inflammation in my eyes and in spite of all the surgical aid I received in Oregon my eyes continued to get worse until at length I became helplessly blind. In August I went to San Francisco and was under the treatment of two oculists of considerable repute. One was a professor of diseases of the eye and I remained under his care one month but continuing to get worse I changed to another so-called specialist to find I was only jumping out of the frying pan into the fire. I next consulted Dr Pardee, 6½ Clay street San Francisco. His treatment relieved me from the very first, and I continued to improve day by day until I could see to read as well as any one. I found his treatment both simple and mild, different from any and all other treatments I had received. My residence is in Astoria, Oregon. Insert this card at my own expense out of pure gratitude to Dr Pardee and without his knowledge to let any similarly afflicted know where to go to get their eyes cured as I have been through the mill and speak from a sad experience.

CITY.

SAMPLE SATCHEL STOLEN.—A few days since the general baggage agent of the O. R. & N. Co. was notified by telegraph from an agent at Celilo that a sample case, belonging to Chester McBride, traveling agent for Manly, Hopkins & Co., hardware dealers, had been stolen from the passenger car. The dispatch also stated that a Chinaman had seen some recruits, who were en route to Fort Walla Walla from Jefferson barracks, Missouri, take the satchel at Celilo. Mr. O. H. Cambridge was detailed to take the matter in hand, and started for Walla Walla. Upon his arrival there he learned from a hackman that one of the recruits had tried to dispose of some revolvers, knives and razors in town. He then went to the barracks where, after telling the facts of the case to the commanding officer, all the recruits were put under arrest. Their baggage was searched and in three separate trunks all the missing articles, valued at about $200, were found and returned to their owner. The men were kept under arrest, and a thorough examination will be made by court-martial.

EASTER SERVICES AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH.—The services for Easter Sunday are as follows: Service for baptism of children, and others, at 10 A. M. Easter service and sermon, 11. The communion service and receiving of members at 12. The exercises in both Sunday schools will be appropriate to the day. During the morning service, in response to a telegraphic message to the pastor from New Orleans, a collection will be taken up for unrelieved sufferers from the Mississippi floods. There will be services and a sermon in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the South Portland mission, on Porter street, to which the general public, in that vicinity, is cordially invited.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—Yesterday afternoon as John M. Tice, the charcoal dispenser, was driving up First street, Dr. G. H. Chance told policeman Wing to put him under arrest for cruelty to animals. He was ordered to drive to the police station, where he furnished $10 for his appearance to-day. Dr. Chance says Tice urges his horses, which are as "thin as matches," by prodding them with a pole, in the end of which a sharp pointed iron spike is inserted. Tice had nothing to say about the matter, excepting that he would be on hand to-day.

LODGE ELECTION.—Oregon Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar, met at their hall last evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: F. N. Shurtleff, E. C.; T. McF. Patton, Genl.; I. W. Pratt, Capt. Gen.; B. E. Lippencott, Prelate; S. L. Pope, S. W.; J. C. Moreland, J. W.; A. Roberts, Treas.; B. G. Whitehouse, Rec.; Orla. Taylor, Standard B.; J. J. Spencer, S. B.; G. E. Withington, Warden; A. J. Woodworth, Tyler; E. C. Taylor, 1st Guard; Stewart McClure, 2d Guard; Chas. E. Sitton, 3d Guard.

ROBBERY AT ASTORIA.—Thursday night the jewelry store of L. B. Royal of Astoria was broken into and eighteen watches stolen. He had put the watches in a cigar box, intending to take them home with him, when he was called away from the store, which he locked upon leaving. He returned about twenty minutes later to find them gone. The door was unlocked and nothing else in the store disturbed. Chinamen are suspected. The police authorities have taken the matter in hand.

NEW PASTOR.—Elder J. W. Spriggs, for many years the efficient pastor of the Christian church in Washington, Illinois, arrived yesterday by the steamer Oregon, and will occupy the pulpit of the Christian church in this city to-morrow, morning and evening. He comes to the state in response to a call from the church in Salem, where he designs locating as their pastor; and is well recommended as an able minister of the word.

RAPIDLY RECOVERING.—Edward Miller's condition is so much improved as to render partial if not entire recovery of the use of his lower limbs only a matter of time. He yesterday expressed a desire to be moved to his sister's residence, corner Second and Madison streets, and several friends carried him there on a stretcher. He is very hopeful of recovery and appears pleased that his friends take so much interest in his welfare.

OPEN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—The regular meeting will be held this evening in the new hall on Morrison street between Third and Fourth. Address by Rev. L. D. Sales, of East Portland. A duet entitled "The Two Orphans," will be sung, by two orphans by special request. The juvenile temperance meeting will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Congregational church. A full attendance is desired.

TO RECOVER HIS COMMISSION.—The case of E. J. Haight against F. B. Harrington was tried in the county court yesterday. It was to recover two and a half per cent commissions on a $12,000 piece of property which the plaintiff sold, and for which Harrington refused to make a deed. The case was taken under advisement and a decision will be rendered to-day.

CAME THROUGH.—The Oregon yesterday brought 118 passengers who had purchased through tickets to Portland at points east of the Rocky mountains. This is another evidence that the fame of Oregon and Washington is extending and that immigrants don't have to wait until they reach San Francisco to learn where Portland is located.

REPORTED HOMICIDE.—A correspondent at Dufur, Wasco county, writes to THE OREGONIAN under date of April 3, that Harry H. Hisley, formerly keeper of a restaurant here, shot and killed Jack Sullivan, a gambler, in self-defense. No particulars were given. The form of the communication gives rise to the belief that the story is a canard.

CHURCH INCORPORATED.—Yesterday articles were filed in the county clerk's office incorporating the First German M. E. church of Portland, its object being to erect a place of worship. The incorporators are: Adam Klippel, August Vahlbarde, J. L. Parrish, C. H. Brick, Jr., and Ferdinand Wandel.

CHANGE OF FEELING.—George Chapman, who was fined $40 in the police court not long since for wife beating, was yesterday released from the county jail. It is the old story, of the wife relenting, and after having him sent to jail, paid his fine to get him out.

SELLING TOBACCO WITHOUT LICENSE.—Officer Jas. Barry yesterday afternoon arrested a Chinaman on First street, between A and B, whom it is said has been dealing in cigars and tobacco without a license. He gave $10 for his appearance and was released.

SENT TO JAIL.—Mrs. James Fenton was yesterday arrested on a charge of assault and battery. She was tried in Justice Phelan's court and sentenced to three days in jail.

FOR PRIEST RAPIDS.—The boat for Priest Rapids will leave Celilo Monday evening next. Passengers leaving here Monday morning will make close connections.

THE STEAMERS.—The Oregon left Astoria at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and arrived here at 1 P.M. The Columbia crossed to sea at 2 P.M.

Monday night will be a gala night for the people of Portland. M. B. & Co.'s grand spring opening is the topic of the day. Their immense stock abounds in novelties of all descriptions, and a rare treat awaits those who will be able to attend. The stores will be closed at 3:45 sharp, and not re-open until 7 P. M. No goods will be sold during the evening.

(The telegraph office closed before the remainder of the county ticket was chosen.)

CAMPBELL'S ARREST.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—United States Marshal Drew arrived to-night, having in custody Andrew M. Campbell, who is charged with robbing the Oregon City postoffice of a quantity of stamps and some money about two years ago. The evidence against him not being sufficiently strong to insure conviction, he was closely watched by order of Inspector Sharpe. When he arrived in Oroville he spent money freely. When arrested two checks for $1250 on a Sacramento bank, which had been stolen about six months ago from the United States mail when in transit, were found in his possession. As soon as he was released from prison he was taken into custody. The defendant will remain in jail awaiting the arrival of an officer from Oregon.

NEW RAILROAD STATIONS.

The O. R. & N. Co's station on the Oregon side at the lower Cascades, has been named Bonneville, in honor of Capt. Benjamin L. E. Bonneville, the distinguished explorer.

The next station above is the Cascade locks.

Wythe is the next station—seven miles above the locks.

The fourth station is Viento, six miles above Shell rock. It is opposite Wind mountain, and the name is Spanish, signifying windy.

The fifth station is Hood river, and the sixth Mosiers.

The last station, Rowena, is seven miles below The Dalles.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

F. R. Chown, 243 First street near Main, has a full stock of builders' hardware at bottom prices.

G. Shindler & Co. make a special announcement this morning which will be of interest to every purchaser of furniture.

AUCTION SALES TO-DAY.

Gilman & Co. will hold a special auction sale of restaurant fixtures and furniture at 85 Morrison, between Fourth and Fifth streets, to-day at 10 o'clock.

PORTLAND, Oregon, April 7, 1882.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Dear Sir—My attention has been called to an advertisement in your paper under "new to-day," made by a party to appear wrong to the public. Therefore, I wish you would be so kind and correct this, in stating that this Steinway school piano was purchased from me on the 28th day of November, 1879, as a second-hand one, with the knowledge of the purchaser, and that my written guarantee for the same was given. Respectfully yours,

ALBERT BARTSCH.

ANNUAL REPORT

Of the Secretary of the Ladies' Relief Society for the Year Ending March 31, 1882.

The society has held twelve regular and four special meetings during the year. The largest number present was thirty-two in December, the smallest eleven in August. The average attendance has been twenty. The society has increased more in membership than for several years previous, 22 having joined during the year. One of our members, Mrs. Maclean, has been called away by death. She joined the society in November but was never able to meet with us. Her life's work just begun she has been called to complete it in the Heavenly Home. One of the members has left the city, making our present number 75.

The charitable work of the city has been about the same as last year. The reports of the ward committees show that 40 families have been assisted, and in some cases of protracted sickness the assistance has been continued for several months.

The work at the Home has increased especially during the last six months. Fifty-six children have been admitted during the year and 39 dismissed. Homes have been found for seventy. The number of children since August has averaged 25, and over 20 for the entire year. Mrs. Wood's health and strength have been spared to us another year and the Home has been under the same wise and good management that it has for the past three years. Mrs. Dickens has also been with us through the year, proving herself the same efficient assistant as formerly.

The health of the children has been almost perfect. There were several cases of measles in a very mild form last summer, but this winter there has not been a case of the diseases so prevalent among children. We wish more of our citizens would visit the home and see the children. Not long since I heard a lady say, "How I pity them, without a mother to care for them." But when one sees them so neat and clean, looking so healthy, bright and happy, showing all the love and tenderness for Mrs. Woods that a child could express for its own mother, you cannot think of them with pity. You feel only gratitude that they have such a home.

Our present building will not accommodate more than thirty at the utmost, and with an average of twenty-five for the last six months, the question of larger accommodations will inevitably force itself upon us in the near future. As a temporary relief it is proposed to take the small building on the home property and fit it up for a department for infants and the younger children. As we have but two lots it really leaves but one for a play-ground for twenty-five children, which is entirely too small. We need at least a block somewhere in the suburbs of the city. But we have that faith in the liberality of our citizens when once convinced of the necessity of an expenditure that we believe that whatever method we may decide upon to raise the money it will be generously responded to.

Our society has had a prosperous year. We have been kindly remembered by friends financially; we have gained in our force of active workers; we possess still more the confidence and sympathy of the community as the many kind words of encouragement in our work testify. Each year will bring added work. With our rapidly increasing population will come greater demands upon our charities. Our city will not be an exception to others. As we are prospered may we be able to show a record of faithful stewardship. Respectfully submitted,

S. J. BURRAGE, Secretary.

MILITARY AND PERSONAL.

(Vancouver Independent.)

The cavalry horses at Fort Boise are suffering from the ravages of "pink eye."

Maj. J. M. Downey, captain 21st infantry, and family, leave for the east on to-day's steamer.

Capt. Frank D. Baldwin, aide-de-camp, left yesterday on a trip to the Dalles, on public business.

The old Fort Dalles military reservation will be sold in May at auction, commencing on the 10th day of the month.

The leave of absence for one year granted Lieut. S. C. Robinson, 1st cavalry, last August, has been revoked by the war department.

Capt. John Q. Adams, 1st cavalry, leaves on the steamer of to-day in charge of the detachment of ordnance destined for Benicia arsenal.

Lieut. Wm. P. Van Ness, 1st artillery, arrived down from Fort Coeur d'Alene on Monday, leaving the same afternoon for his station, going via Victoria.

Major W. H. Eckles who arrived down on Monday, takes charge of the chief paymaster's office in this department until the arrival of Col. Rodney Smith.

Capt. Robert Pollock, 21st infantry, was at headquarters on Monday, en route to Cornelius, Or., where he has a fine farm, and where he will remain during his leave of absence.

Major Jas. P. Canby, paymaster U. S. A., stationed at Portland, has been relieved from duty in this department, with orders to report to headquarters military division of the Missouri.

Post Chaplain David Wills has been relieved from duty at Fort Walla Walla and assigned to duty at Fort Colville. He will spend thirty days at Medical lake in the hope of benefiting his health.

Col. Rodney Smith, deputy paymaster general, for a long time past chief paymaster to Gen. McDowell, will shortly leave San Francisco for Vancouver barracks, to assume a similar position on the staff of Gen. Miles.

The commanding officer at Fort Coeur d'Alene has been directed to send an officer for duty to Fort Colville, this step becoming necessary on account of Major Larned taking station there and leaving them short of officers.

Sergt. Frank Y. Green of the signal corps stationed at Dayton, has been commissioned second lieutenant of the signal corps, his commission arriving at headquarters yesterday. He has been ordered to report at headquarters to consult on telegraphic matters.

W. SCHEFFLER'S PURE WINES AND BRANDY.

It is universally conceded that Wm. Scheffler's St. Helena (Cal.) Sherry, Port, Amber, Riesling and Claret wines, as also his vacuum distilled pure Grape Brandy are really superior to other manufactures, not excepting that imported, the adulterations and impurities of which is now generally understood. Mr. Scheffler's goods are popularly known all over the Pacific coast. Eight-tenths of all the druggists in California, Oregon and Washington territory have adopted his goods, discarding the imported. Ask your druggist here in Portland, East Portland, or in any town in this northwest, and you will be quite sure to obtain it, as you will at most of the first-class hotels and bars. Mr. Scheffler's Wines and sanitary Brandy have been steadily growing into favor until they are known well in almost every household as a medicine if not otherwise. Mr. Scheffler's process of distilling in a vacuum is his own patent process, which relieves his brandy of the fusil oil, making it really pure, sanitary and healthful.

SATURDAY MORNING . APRIL 8, 1882

THE UNDERLYING PRINCIPLE OF THE CHINESE QUESTION.

A Washington correspondent reports that when the president was told that his veto would cost the republican party their control of the Pacific states he answered that "if any party would reap any advantage from executive disapproval of a bill which involves American principles that have been in vogue two hundred years, it would be the party in the long run which stood on true American ground." In the east, Pacific coast people, for their support of the bill to restrict Chinese immigration are charged with recreancy to the fundamental principles of the republic, a charge which is repeated by the president himself. To cure this antipathy to the Chinese in these states it is proposed at the east to insist on admission of the Chinese to naturalization, to be followed by bestowal of the right of suffrage. As a matter of fact the Chinese among us do not want either citizenship or the suffrage, and not one in a hundred would avail himself of these privileges if he could. But at the east people do not know this. The New York Nation, which is an organ of eastern opinion, says: "The more we examine the Chinese problem on the Pacific coast, the more satisfied we become that the whole anti-Chinese movement, in so far as it is political, is the result of the judicial decision which denied to Chinamen the quality of being 'free white persons' for purposes of naturalization under the United States statute, although the statute expressly admits to citizenship the savages of the African continent, as well as our native blacks. If even 8000 Chinamen had been naturalized in California, and had been voters during the past ten years, it is all but certain that neither the democratic nor republican politicians would have discovered the horrors of Chinese immigration, or have ventured to plant passports, and alien registries, and disqualification by race and color, on American soil. In fact, they would probably be by this time as anxious to deny all hostility to Chinamen as they are now to conceal that they ever favored negro slavery, or belonged to a Know-Nothing lodge." The same general assertion has been made by Mr. Seward, and both the Nation and Mr. Seward appear to think that it is a very formidable indictment, and that it somehow shows the Chinese bill to be a bad measure.

The Sacramento Record-Union answers this most effectively. It admits, indeed, that the position is a strong one in some respects, as it is folly to say that if the Chinaman could have voted it would have made no difference as to the movement against him. It would have made a great difference. If he could have voted, if he could have been naturalized, and if he had shown a disposition to become a citizen, it is, we think, as certain as anything can be, that the politicians would have declined to make a dead set at him as they have done. In fact we may admit the substantial accuracy of the Nation's statement, that if even 8000 Chinamen had been voters there would have been no political anti-Chinese movement. But this does not show that the anti-Chinese movement was wrong. It only shows that our system of government almost compels politicians to truckle to every voting element, merely and solely because it is a voting element. The Nation is really making an argument against universal suffrage, and not against the Chinese bill, when it declares that the possession of the ballot would have protected the Chinese against adverse legislation; for, supposing this to be true, it only shows that we have adopted a scheme of naturalization so loose that it may at any time enable an alien element, all of whose purposes are hostile to American civilization, to paralyze our government, and prevent it from defending itself against the encroachments and injuries inflicted by that element.

But in eastern publications there is an occasional display of sound judgment on the question. The Popular Science Monthly for April has an elaborate article entitled, "Chinese Immigration—A Sociological Study," written to show that the differences and contrasts in the characters of Chinese and European peoples, which is older than their histories, and which is now the same as when their histories commence, constitute the underlying and vital questions involved of Chinese immigration. As nations are the necessary product of their parts—as the government is as it is because the people are as they are—it is argued that a certain degree of homogeneity is necessary to secure peace and permanence. A majority of the people must have sentiments, instincts, and temperaments as nearly similar as possible, where a difference in circumstances, occupations, and position is necessary. It is a constant strain upon the coherence of a nation, where the parts are of different civilizations. The introduction of the Chinese into our American society would be a union of different civilizations and different races. Each would stand by itself, from being too different to appreciate the other. They would be united only in the common interests of protection to life and property, and would defeat those primary objects by differing so fundamentally as to the method of their accomplishment. Very little assimilation could take place. If the immigration should be so small—though there are reasons for believing it would not be—that the American population would always be in a large majority, there would still result the establishment of a non-assimilable class, that would be looked upon as an inferior caste, and would be ruled without regard to their wishes or interests. Such a class, in a republican government, would be as much of an anomaly, and as impossible of permanence, as the institution of slavery.

The Spanish invasion of Mexico is cited as affording an illustration of the distinctive results following the union of different civilizations. The Mexicans were a homogeneous people, having similar wants, instincts, and capabilities. Undisturbed by foreign influence, they were slowly developing to a higher stage of civilization—a condition of greater good for a larger number. In the sixteenth century there was every indication of an increasing population and an advancing intellectual state. The mixed population to-day of the valley of Anahuac is but a fraction of the numbers who opposed the arms of Cortes. The Spaniards and the Aztecs were too unlike to be brought harmoniously into one society. The government and customs of neither were suited to both. Forced together as they were, there could only result a struggle for supremacy, and the gradual assimilation of the more yielding characters of each. Passions and vices were earlier the habits of mankind than reason and virtue: the former were, therefore, the more constant, the latter the more readily destroyed. The mental characters and customs were more alike also among primitive than among advanced societies, and would more readily assimilate. So we find, for many generations after the union, that the new society is lower in the scale of civilization than were either of the parts which composed it.

The union of the civilizations of China and America, which differ as the races differ, would produce a society with parts so fundamentally antagonistic that permanent national existence—for which homogeneity is necessary—would be impossible. Assimilation could be effected only by the gradual and slow change of the more yielding character of each. In the involuntary conflict ensuing, those characters which originated before the dawn of an ancient history, and have been strengthened through the inheritance of unnumbered generations, would persist with greater force than those new and changing characters which seem by comparison like the fashions of a season. If the further development of our civilization is to be desired, it must be guarded from the retarding influence of a different race. If our institutions and governmental principles are worthy of preservation, they must be protected from a people who represent in all the instincts of their nature different feelings and forms. If we ignore the plain teachings of history upon the effect of the mingling of societies composed of different races, or having different civilizations, and, as is commonly the case with individuals, will learn only from our own experience, the experience is likely to come too late for us to profit by it.

This discussion, it will be seen, is placed on the broadest possible grounds. It does not include examination of the incidental phases of the question (as the effect of competition in labor) which most engage attention to-day. No one who has had actual contact with Asiatics supposes they can ever assimilate with the body of our people as Europeans readily do. A Chinaman and his descendants will always be Chinese, and nothing else. They never can be wrought and kneaded into the body of the American people; they will be aliens here forever, without the slightest interest in our government or its institutions, excrescences on the body politic, constituting no part of our national or social strength, but weakening the whole structure, as a spear-head embedded in a living body inflames all the parts around it.

AN UNWISE PROPOSITION.

Senator Pendleton is trying very hard to keep himself before the people. He wants it understood that Senator Pendleton would be a good man for the democratic presidential nomination in 1884. He betrays himself by too much zeal. The latest claim he has urged upon public attention is in the shape of a joint resolution of congress to submit a constitutional amendment providing for the election of postmasters and several other minor government officials. The amendment he proposes is:

Sec. 1. Postmasters, marshals, district attorneys of the United States, clerks of courts inferior to the supreme court, and all such other civil officers of the United States exercising executive or ministerial power within the several states or territories and districts composed of the whole or part of any state or territory, as congress may designate, shall be elected by the people of the several districts, and the electors of each district shall have the qualification of electors of the most numerous branch of the legislature of the state and territory in which such district is established.

Sec. 2. Congress shall have power to provide for the establishment of districts in the several states and territories in which such elections shall be held, for the suspension or removal of such officers, for filling temporarily all vacancies which may happen, for filling offices until an election can be held, and to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 3. The time, places and manner of holding such elections under this article shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof, but congress may at any time, by law, alter such regulations.

Senator Pendleton's proposition is not new. It has often been considered by statesmen and by the public, and the almost uniform conclusion has been that the disadvantages of electing local administrative officials by popular vote would greatly outweigh all the advantages that could result from such a system. There are far too many elections now. Politics have come to be a trade for a great tribe of unscrupulous bummers. The people have almost abandoned the business of "affairs" to local bosses and professional party managers. The people have discovered how useless it is to fight with organized professional forces. The undertaking is so hopeless that the good citizen, as a rule, not merely abandons it in despair, but relapses into a sour or cynical indifference to all elections. To add the responsibility of choosing 50,000 postmasters and thousands of marshals, clerks, revenue collectors and other local officials representing the national government would serve only to intensify bummerism and caucus packing, and increase public lethargy or despair in public matters instead of arousing the people to new efforts for the purification of politics and the public service.

Mr. Gladstone recently proposed in the house of commons to increase the allowance of Prince Leopold, the queen's youngest son. Samuel Storey (radical) objected, saying that he was opposed to "spending public money in support of titled idleness." No complaint that the liberty of speech is restricted is possible when such an utterance can be made in parliament without rebuke. In spite of the speeches against the grant, the measure giving the queen's youngest son an additional annuity of $50,000, and his widow an annual pension of $30,000 in the event of his death, was passed by a vote of 387 to 42. It is significant that Sir Charles Dilke, Postmaster-General Fawcett and Macaulay's friend, George Otto Trevelyan, abstained from voting, but an overwhelming majority of the members evidently felt that as generous provision for Prince Leopold should be made as for others of the queen's sons. However, the phrase "titled idleness" is thought to be the product of a strong current of British sentiment against maintaining an aristocracy in England. It is said that Gladstone's purpose to restore the county franchise is designed to establish local government and wrest power from the aristocratic class. He is constantly charged with having an old grudge against the house of lords, and it is hinted that he does not enjoy the cordial approval of the queen because she considers him too democratic in his principles. That he is disposed to deal justly by every class is evident to every impartial student of his career, but that he wishes the people to have more power and the aristocratic class less is undoubtedly true. The "People's William" is the popular title which he has won, and the influence of his career in the strengthening of public sentiment against what Mr. Storey denominates "titled idleness" is an interesting subject for study.

At the beginning of the present century Isaac Burr, a New York merchant, was compelled to take in payment of a debt of $3000, eight acres of land situated above Madison square, and at the time quite out of the city. It seemed to the new owner rather a poor offset to his claim, but was better than nothing. As the land was quite in the country, Burr built a country house there and occupied it in the summer with his family. The estate constituted a small farm. The property finally came into possession of the three daughters, none of whom ever married. The last of these three daughters—Sarah Burr—recently died. The property which the original Burr took for a debt of $3000 is worth something over $5,000,000 to-day. It is remarkable that nearly the whole of it will finally be distributed in legacies to charitable objects.

China last year sold this country goods worth $22,358,908, invoice valuation, and this country sold goods to China worth $5,447,261, or less than one-quarter as much. This is the state of our trade with China which commercial statesmen of the east say is of so great value. We buy from China four times as much as we are able to sell her, and the profits are on her side; yet in eastern commercial circles the pretense is set up that if we suspend Chinese immigration we shall make the Chinese so angry that they won't sell us their surplus products for money when we are ready to pay the highest price. We shall, however, get all the tea, firecrackers and gimcracks from China that we offer the money for, whether we allow the Chinese to come to this country or not.

Democrats in both branches of congress are already evincing a purpose to force the new Chinese immigration bill into a shape which will bring another veto, or postpone the whole subject for this session. They will favor and probably will insist on suspension for the term of sixteen years, believing that the president will interpose another veto substantially on the same ground as before—namely, that the term is too long. Senator Miller of California, who has had an interview with the president, says that a ten years' bill would be promptly approved. But its progress through congress can be hindered by so many expedients that such bill may be a long time getting through, or may not get through at all.

There seems to be no limit to the demands of the pension grabbers. Last week senate committee on pensions reported a bill providing that on and after its passage all soldiers and sailors who, since the 16th of July, 1880, have been pensioned or rated at $50 per month for total and permanent disability, requiring regular personal attendance of another person, shall receive, in lieu of such pensions, $72 per month, and shall be paid the difference between said sums monthly from the date of such pension or rating to the time of passage of the bill. It also provides that hereafter the rate of pension for such disability shall be $72 per month.

EXECUTRIX SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.—In the matter of the estate of John Van Beurden, deceased. Notice is hereby given that, in pursuance of an order of the County Court of the State of Oregon for Multnomah county in the above estate, I will, on Tuesday, March 7th, 1882, commence selling the stock of goods of John Van Beurden, deceased, now in the store No. 107 First street, Portland, Oregon. Such sale will be continued from day to day until all said stock is sold. The goods are inventoried at cost price, and will be sold absolutely at cost and for cash only. Parties desiring Diamonds, Watches, or any kind of jewelry, spectacles, opera glasses, silver-ware, and articles in that line, can purchase cheaper at this sale than at any retail jewelry store in Portland or San Francisco. Everything in the store is first-class and warranted as represented.

Proposals for Forage and Straw.

HEADQ'RS MIL. DIV. PACIFIC AND DEP'T CALIFORNIA,
OFFICE OF CHIEF QUARTERMASTER,
PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 5, 1882.

SEALED PROPOSALS, IN TRIPLICATE, SUBJECT to the usual conditions, will be received at this office, and at the offices of the quartermasters of the following named posts until 11 o'clock A. M., San Francisco time, on Thursday, the 11th day of May, 1882, at which times and places they will be opened in the presence of bidders, for furnishing and delivering such quantities of the following mentioned military supplies during the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1882, and ending June 30, 1883, viz:

Oats, barley, bran and hay at Forts Bidwell, Cal., and Halleck, Nev.; oats, hay and straw at Fort Gaston, Cal.; barley and hay at Fort McDermit, Nev.; and barley, hay and straw at San Diego Barracks, Cal.

Also, at the same time, at this office only, for such quantities of the following mentioned military supplies as may be required at the following named posts and places, during the same period, viz.

Oats, hay and straw at Alcatraz Island, Angel Island, Fort Point, Fort Point San Jose, and San Francisco, Cal.; oats, barley and hay at Benicia Arsenal; oats and hay at Benicia Barracks; and oats, bran, hay and straw at Presidio of San Francisco, Cal.

Proposals for either class of the stores mentioned, or for quantities less than the whole required, will be received. The Government reserves the right to reject any or all proposals. A preference will be given to articles of domestic production, and to articles produced on the Pacific coast, conditions of price and quality being equal.

Blank proposals and printed circulars stating the kind and estimated quantities required at each post, and giving full instructions as to the manner of bidding, conditions to be observed by bidders, amount of bond to accompany proposals, and terms of contract and payment, will be furnished on application to this office, or to the quartermasters at the various posts named.

Envelopes containing proposals should be plainly marked: "Proposals for ——— at ———," and addressed to the undersigned, or to the quartermasters of such of the posts above named as are open to bids.

GOOD FOR SORE EYES.
THIS IS TO CERTIFY THAT IN JUNE, 1881, I had acute inflammation in my eyes, and in spite of all the surgical aid I received in Oregon my eyes continued to get worse, until at length I became helplessly blind. In August I went to San Francisco and was under the treatment of two occulists of considerable repute. One was a professor of diseases of the eye, and I remained under his care one month, but continuing to get worse, I changed to another so-called specialist. I found I was only jumping out of the frying-pan into the fire. I next consulted Dr. Pardee, 621 Clay street, San Francisco. His treatment relieved me from the very first, and I continued to improve day by day, until I could see to read as well as any one. I found his treatment both simple and mild, different from any and all other treatments I had received. My residence is in Astoria, Oregon. Insert this card at my own expense out of pure gratitude to Dr. Pardee and without his knowledge, to let any similarly afflicted know where to go to get their eyes cured, as I have been through the mill and speak from a sad experience. m1d&w HENRY HARRISON.

FOR SALE OR TO RENT.
A GREAT BARGAIN!—A 10-ACRE FARM, SITuated two miles from Portland, on east side of river. Will be sold cheap, if applied for soon. It has a fine house and barn, two fine orchards, bearing, and plenty of small fruit. Also 80 acres of open land—level tract—for sale cheap; situated six miles from Portland. No brokers need apply. The purchaser will get the benefit of the commission. Apply at Shoe Factory office, 110½ Front st., over Fongle's harness shop, Portland. m26d1m

CITY.

SAMPLE SATCHEL STOLEN.—A few days since the general baggage agent of the O. R. & N. Co. was notified by telegraph from an agent at Celilo that a sample case, belonging to Chester McBride, traveling agent for Manly, Hopkins & Co., hardware dealers, had been stolen from the passenger car. The dispatch also stated that a Chinaman had seen some recruits, who were en route to Fort Walla Walla from Jefferson barracks, Missouri, take the satchel at Celilo. Mr. O. H. Cambridge was detailed to take the matter in hand, and started for Walla Walla. Upon his arrival there he learned from a hackman that one of the recruits had tried to dispose of some revolvers, knives and razors in town. He then went to the barracks where, after telling the facts of the case to the commanding officer, all the recruits were put under arrest. Their baggage was searched and in three separate trunks all the missing articles, valued at about $200, were found and returned to their owner. The men were kept under arrest, and a thorough examination will be made by court-martial.

EASTER SERVICES AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH.—The services for Easter Sunday are as follows: Service for baptism of children, and others, at 10 A. M. Easter service and sermon, 11. The communion service and receiving of members at 12. The exercises in both Sunday schools will be appropriate to the day. During the morning service, in response to a telegraphic message to the pastor from New Orleans, a collection will be taken up for unrelieved sufferers from the Mississippi floods. There will be services and a sermon in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the South Portland mission, on Porter street, to which the general public, in that vicinity, is cordially invited.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—Yesterday afternoon as John M. Tice, the charcoal dispenser, was driving up First street, Dr. G. H. Chance told policeman Wing to put him under arrest for cruelty to animals. He was ordered to drive to the police station, where he furnished $10 for his appearance to-day. Dr. Chance says Tice urges his horses, which are as "thin as matches," by prodding them with a pole, in the end of which a sharp pointed iron spike is inserted. Tice had nothing to say about the matter, excepting that he would be on hand to-day.

LODGE ELECTION.—Oregon Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar, met at their hall last evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: F. N. Shurtleff, E. C.; T. McF. Patton, Genl.; I. W. Pratt, Capt. Gen.; B. E. Lippencott, Prelate; S. L. Pope, S. W.; J. C. Moreland, J. W.; A. Roberts, Treas.; B. G. Whitehouse, Rec.; Cris. Taylor, Standard B.; J. J. Spencer, S. B.; G. E. Withington, Warden; A. J. Woodworth, Tyler; E. C. Taylor, 1st Guard; Stewart McClure, 2d Guard; Chas. E. Sitton, 3d Guard.

ROBBERY AT ASTORIA.—Thursday night the jewelry store of L. B. Royal of Astoria was broken into and eighteen watches stolen. He had put the watches in a cigar box, intending to take them home with him, when he was called away from the store, which he locked upon leaving. He returned about twenty minutes later to find them gone. The door was unlocked and nothing else in the store disturbed. Chinamen are suspected. The police authorities have taken the matter in hand.

NEW PASTOR.—Elder J. W. Spriggs, for many years the efficient pastor of the Christian church in Washington, Illinois, arrived yesterday by the steamer Oregon, and will occupy the pulpit of the Christian church in this city to-morrow, morning and evening. He comes to the state in response to a call from the church in Salem, where he designs locating as their pastor, and is well recommended as an able minister of the word.

RAPIDLY RECOVERING.—Edward Miller's condition is so much improved as to render partial if not entire recovery of the use of his lower limbs only a matter of time. He yesterday expressed a desire to be moved to his sister's residence, corner Second and Madison streets, and several friends carried him there on a stretcher. He is very hopeful of recovery and appears pleased that his friends take so much interest in his welfare.

OPEN TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.—The regular meeting will be held this evening in the new hall on Morrison street between Third and Fourth. Address by Rev. L. D. Sales, of East Portland. A duet entitled "The Two Orphans," will be sung by two orphans by special request. The juvenile temperance meeting will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Congregational church. A full attendance is desired.

TO RECOVER HIS COMMISSION.—The case of E. J. Haight against F. B. Harrington was tried in the county court yesterday. It was to recover two and a half per cent commissions on a $12,000 piece of property which the plaintiff sold, and for which Harrington refused to make a deed. The case was taken under advisement and a decision will be rendered to-day.

CAME THROUGH.—The Oregon yesterday brought 118 passengers who had purchased through tickets to Portland at points east of the Rocky mountains. This is another evidence that the fame of Oregon and Washington is extending and that immigrants don't have to wait until they reach San Francisco to learn where Portland is located.

REPORTED HOMICIDE.—A correspondent at Dufur, Wasco county, writes to THE OREGONIAN under date of April 3, that Harry H. Hisley, formerly keeper of a restaurant here, shot and killed Jack Sullivan, a gambler, in self-defense. No particulars were given. The form of the communication gives rise to the belief that the story is a canard.

CHURCH INCORPORATED.—Yesterday articles were filed in the county clerk's office incorporating the First German M. E. church of Portland, its object being to erect a place of worship. The incorporators are: Adam Klippel, August Vahlbarde, J. L. Parrish, C. H. Brick, Jr., and Ferdinand Wandel.

CHANGE OF FEELING.—George Chapman, who was fined $40 in the police court not long since for wife beating, was yesterday released from the county jail. It is the old story, of the wife relenting, and after having him sent to jail, paid his fine to get him out.

SELLING TOBACCO WITHOUT LICENSE.—Officer Jas. Barry yesterday afternoon arrested a Chinaman on First street, between A and B, whom it is said has been dealing in cigars and tobacco without a license. He gave $10 for his appearance and was released.

SENT TO JAIL.—Mrs. James Fenton was yesterday arrested on a charge of assault and battery. She was tried in Justice Phelan's court and sentenced to three days in jail.

FOR PRIEST RAPIDS.—The boat for Priest Rapids will leave Celilo Monday evening next. Passengers leaving here Monday morning will make close connections.

THE STEAMERS.—The Oregon left Astoria at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and arrived here at 1 P. M. The Columbia crossed to sea at 2 P. M.

Monday night will be a gala night for the people of Portland. M. B. & Co.'s grand spring opening is the topic of the day. Their immense stock abounds in novelties of all descriptions, and a rare treat awaits those who will be able to attend. The stores will be closed at 3:45 sharp, and not re-open until 7 P. M. No goods will be sold during the evening.

CAMPBELL'S ARREST.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—United States Marshal Drew arrived to-night, having in custody Andrew M. Campbell, who is charged with robbing the Oregon City postoffice of a quantity of stamps and some money about two years ago. The evidence against him not being sufficiently strong to insure conviction, he was closely watched by order of Inspector Sharpe. When he arrived in Oroville he spent money freely. When arrested two checks for $1750 on a Sacramento bank, which had been stolen about six months ago from the United States mail when in transit, were found in his possession. As soon as he was released from prison he was taken into custody. The defendant will remain in jail awaiting the arrival of an officer from Oregon.

NEW RAILROAD STATION.

The O. R. & N. Co's station on the Oregon side at the lower Cascades, has been named Bonneville, in honor of Capt. Benjamin L. E. Bonneville, the distinguished explorer.

The next station above is the Cascade locks.

Wythe is the next station—seven miles above the locks.

The fourth station is Viento, six miles above Shell rock. It is opposite Wind mountain, and the name is Spanish, signifying windy.

The fifth station is Hood river, and the sixth Mosiers.

The last station, Rowena, is seven miles below The Dalles.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PORTLAND, Oregon, April 7, 1882.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Dear Sir—My attention has been called to an advertisement in your paper, under "new to-day," made by a party to appear wrong to the public. Therefore, I wish you would be so kind and correct this, in stating that this Steinway school piano was purchased from me on the 28th day of November, 1879, as a second-hand one, with the knowledge of the purchaser, and that my written guarantee for the same was given. Respectfully yours,

ANNUAL REPORT

Of the Secretary of the Ladies' Relief Society for the Year Ending March 31, 1882.

The society has held twelve regular and one special meetings during the year. The largest number present was thirty-two in December, the smallest eleven in August. The average attendance has been twenty. The society has increased more in membership than for several years previous, 22 having joined during the year. One of our members, Mrs. Mayberry, has been called away by death. She joined the society in November but was never able to meet with us. Her life's work just begun she has been called to complete it in the Heavenly Home. One of the members has left the city, making our present number 75.

The charitable work of the city has been about the same as last year. The reports of the ward committees show that 40 families have been assisted, and in some cases of protracted sickness the assistance has been continued for several months.

The work at the Home has increased especially during the last six months. Fifty-six children have been admitted during the year and 33 dismissed. Homes have been found for seven. The number of children since August has averaged 25, and over 20 for the entire year. Mrs. Wood's health and strength have been spared to us another year and the Home has been under the same wise and good management that it has for the past three years. Mrs. Dickens has also been with us through the year, proving herself the same efficient assistant as formerly.

The health of the children has been almost perfect. There were several cases of measles in a very mild form last summer, but this winter there has not been a case of the diseases so prevalent among children. We wish more of our citizens would visit the home and see the children. Not long since I heard a lady say, "How I pity them, without a mother to care for them." But when one sees them so neat and clean, looking so healthy, bright and happy, showing all the love and kindness for Mrs. Woods that a child could express for its own mother, you cannot think of them with pity. You feel only gratitude that they have such a home.

Our present building will not accommodate more than thirty at the utmost, and with an average of twenty-five for the last six months, the question of larger accommodations will inevitably force itself upon us in the near future. As a temporary relief it is proposed to take the small building on the home property and fit it up for a department for infants and the younger children. As we have but two lots it really leaves but one for a playground for twenty-five children, which is entirely too small. We need at least a block somewhere in the suburbs of the city. But we have that faith in the liberality of our citizens when once convinced of the necessity of an expenditure that we believe that whatever method we may decide upon to raise the money it will be generously responded to.

Our society has had a prosperous year. We have been kindly remembered by friends financially; we have gained in our force of active workers; we possess still more the confidence and sympathy of the community as the many kind words of encouragement in our work testify. Each year will bring added work. With our rapidly increasing population will come greater demands upon our charities. Our city will not be an exception to others. As we are prospered may we be able to show a record of faithful stewardship. Respectfully submitted,

S. J. BURRAGE, Secretary.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The National Surgical Institute of Indianapolis, with branches at Philadelphia, Atlanta, Ga., and San Francisco, which has a national reputation, will permanently establish a branch at Portland, Oregon.

Two of the skilled surgeons of this Institute prepared with every needed apparatus for the successful treatment of cripples will meet all their old patients and such new ones as may desire treatment this year, at the following places, Portland, at St. Charles hotel, April 8th, 10th, and 11th, Albany April 12 and 13, The Dalles April 17th, Walla Walla April 19 and 20th, and Seattle April 25 and 26th, and hereafter at Portland, Oregon, on the first two weeks of May and November of each year, commencing November, 1882.

Beware of all traveling doctors who may claim to represent any other Institute, for this is the only Surgical Institute on this coast with facilities and experience for the treatment of deformities.

MILITARY AND PERSONAL.

[Vancouver Independent.]

The cavalry horses at Fort Boise are suffering from the ravages of "pink eye."

Maj. G. M. Downey, captain 21st infantry, and family, leave for the east on to-day's steamer.

Capt. Frank D. Baldwin, aide-de-camp, left yesterday on a trip to the Dalles, on public business.

The old Fort Dalles military reservation will be sold in May, at auction, commencing on the 20th day of the month.

The leave of absence for one year granted Lieut. S. C. Robinson, 1st cavalry, last August, has been revoked by the war department.

Capt. John Q. Adams, 1st cavalry, leaves on the steamer of to-day in charge of the detachment of ordnance destined for Benicia arsenal.

Lieut. Wm. P. Van Ness, 1st artillery, arrived down from Fort Coeur d'Alene on Monday, leaving the same afternoon for his station, going via Victoria.

Major W. H. Eckles, who arrived down on Monday, takes charge of the chief paymaster's office in this department until the arrival of Col. Rodney Smith.

Capt. Robert Pollock, 21st infantry, was at headquarters on Monday, en route to Cornelius, Or., where he has a fine farm, and where he will remain during his leave of absence.

Major Jas. P. Canby, paymaster U. S. A., stationed at Portland, has been relieved from duty in this department, with orders to report to headquarters military division of the Missouri.

Post Chaplain David Wills has been relieved from duty at Fort Walla Walla and assigned to duty at Fort Colville. He will spend thirty days at Medical lake in the hope of benefiting his health.

Col. Rodney Smith, deputy paymaster-general, for a long time past chief paymaster to Gen. McDowell, will shortly leave San Francisco for Vancouver barracks, to assume a similar position on the staff of Gen. Miles.

The commanding officer at Fort Coeur d'Alene has been directed to send an officer for duty to Fort Colville, this step becoming necessary on account of Major Larned taking station there and leaving them short of quarters.

Sergt. Frank V. Green of the signal corps stationed at Dayton, has been commissioned second lieutenant of the signal corps, his commission arriving at headquarters yesterday. He has been ordered to report at headquarters to consult on telegraphic matters.

W. SCHEFFLER'S PURE WINES AND BRANDY.

It is universally conceded that Wm. Scheffler's St. Helena (Cal.) Sherry, Port, Amber, Riesling and Claret wines, as also his vacuum distilled pure Grape Brandy are really superior to other manufactures, not excepting that imported, the adulterations and impurities of which is now generally understood. Mr. Scheffler's goods are popularly known all over the Pacific coast. Eight-tenths of all the druggists in California, Oregon and Washington territory have adopted his goods, discarding the imported. Ask your druggist here in Portland, East Portland, or in any town in this northwest, and you will be quite sure to obtain it, as you will at most of the first-class hotels and bars. Mr. Scheffler's Wines and Sanitary Brandy have been steadily growing into favor until they are known well to almost every household as a medicine, if not otherwise. Mr. Scheffler's process of distilling in a vacuum is his own patent process, which relieves his brandy of the fusil oil, making it really pure, sanitary and healthful.

ETERNAL SONG.

The day shall come when not again
 By any shall be said
Lo, here the wine-cup in His name,
 The sacramental bread,
For that by Christ's own hand the soul
 Shall be forever fed.

Soon dawns the day when nevermore
 Shall the baptismal tide
By any man, to babe or man,
 Be evermore applied,
Because each soul as clean as God
 Forever shall abide.

When not again from human lips
 Shall rise upon the air,
Nor stir the soul to utmost speech
 The faintest breath of prayer;
For then all things that God can give
 Its own already are.

The day shall come, shall not survive,
 While endless ages roll,
A page, a word of Scripture, for
 With heaven and earth the whole
Shall shrivel in the final fires,
 Like a consuming scroll.

Our worship, born of earthly need,
 With earthly need decays;
Beginning ere the earth was made,
 Not measured by its days;
This only shall endure of all,
 The dialect of praise.

God's universal language this,
 The tongue that never dies;
The simplest, sweetest speech of souls,
 Its accents let us prize;
Since, low or loud, our songs are but
 Rehearsals for the skies.

—W. M. Baker.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

New York Times, Rep.

The position of those who have control of revenue legislation in the house of representatives is much more liberal and sensible than it was in the fore part of the session and even up to a fortnight ago. The sentiment expressed in the republican caucus last week has evidently surprised some of them, and the strength and distinctness of that expression has opened their eyes to the danger and folly of the dog-in-the-manger policy which they had so confidingly adopted at the dictation of the extreme protectionists. They no longer talk of forcing the tariff commission bill through without amendment and without general debate. Still less do they propose to cut down the taxes on liquors and tobacco by one-half, while leaving untouched the great and unjustifiable burdens imposed on American industry by the tariff. On the contrary, as will be seen by our dispatches this morning, the committee of ways and means have got the commission of the house to proceed at once to the consideration of the commission bill as soon as the house shall go again into committee of the whole, and unless interfered with by some appropriation bill, to continue the discussion of that measure until it is finally disposed of. The committee agree, for their part, not to oppose the discussion and amendment, leaving that to the speaker and the house to determine.

This is a long step forward, for it is a concession on the part of those who have hitherto been the most obstinate and unreasoning obstructionists, that the question of the tariff and of tariff reform is one that cannot be indefinitely postponed. It is true that under the recent ruling as to the character of the commission bill amendments intended to reduce the tariff may be shut out, but a general discussion can hardly be avoided. The very nature of the bill, which is a proposition to refer the revision of the tariff to a commission of experts, involves a discussion of the operation of the tariff as it is, of the manner in which it affects the revenue, of the influence exerted by it on the various interests with which it deals, and, still further, upon the constitutional warrant for any such measure. The whole field of debate must be opened by any attempt to explain or justify the extraordinary experiment of an outside commission to examine into the work of raising the revenue. Of course, in any such discussion the particular point of the time which must be consumed directly by the commission, and which must also be consumed before the work of the commission can in the ordinary course of things receive efficient action from congress, will be fully elucidated. It is fair to suppose that many votes will turn upon this point, and it is probable that they will be largely in favor of the bill.

Whatever may be the result of the decision of the house to take up this measure, it is very desirable that the debate upon it shall be intelligent and practical. It is unavoidable that the constitutionality of protection shall pass unquestioned, but there is a growing conviction among the people that it is entirely unconstitutional and can be sustained only by precedent. But it is not desirable that part of the subject matter shall receive any great degree of attention. Granting that congress has the right to impose taxes for the purpose of impeding foreign competition with American capitalists for the purpose of fostering their enterprises, it is the duty of the favored capitalists to prove in the first place that they need protection, in the second place that the protection which they enjoy does not hamper other interests and industries, and in the third place that protection, if given, will in a reasonable time make them self-supporting and independent of the favors given them at the expense of their customers. By the avowed theories of the protectionists they are now on the defensive. The principal features of the tariff are of twenty years' standing. For that time the government has interposed duties averaging nearly 50 per cent., and often, in important cases, much higher, between foreign rivals and home capitalists engaged in certain manufactures. What has been the result? Have these manufactures been developed as was expected? If so, why do they require further intervention by the law? If not, when may we reasonably suppose that they will become independent? On these points there is not the obscurity and uncertainty that prevailed when the present tariff was enacted. The general facts are very largely accessible through the reports of the bureau of statistics. The particular facts should be required of those who sustain the further extension of government favor, and they should be required in a specific and complete form. The time has gone by when the long-continued abuses of the tariff can be covered by constant repetition of barren generalities regarding the protection of American labor. American labor, as a whole, is not protected. It is a grave question whether any American labor is protected. If it be, let us know precisely what labor, and what is the extent and value of the protection.

As to the political bearing of the question, republicans are uncommitted. The party is not pledged to the present tariff or to any tariff of which the chief object is not revenue. Its representatives are free to decide for themselves how far the tariff should be reduced, and in what direction. Not even a congressional caucus has yet spoken on the subject. The republicans will be very foolish if they allow either the protectionists or the democrats to force them into an advocacy of extreme protectionist ideas, on the ground that party consistency requires it. On the contrary, the permanent interests of the party would be very seriously compromised by any such policy.

[illegible] Civilization.

Popular Science Monthly for April.

To any one who has thought about the Chinese, the contrast presented by a comparison of their civilization with the civilization of the western nations must have given rise to frequent speculation as to the cause of so great a difference. Should we be brought into communication with another planet we could hardly expect to find a people more unlike us than the inhabitants of China. They have existed substantially as at present from a time long before a single language existed which is spoken to-day in Europe, and even before our classic dead languages were born. While the tribes, nations, and civilizations of the west have come and gone, the Chinese have remained the same, generation after generation and century after century, content always to live and die in the conditions that Fate has imposed upon them in the middle kingdom. A century and a half ago Du Halde wrote of their incurable conservatism, "that they have continued the same with regard to the attire, morals, laws, customs and manners, without deviating in the least from the wise institutions of their ancient legislators." And in our time we are told by the Abbe Huc—than whom no one has had better opportunities from which to judge that "they seem to have been always living in the same stage of advancement as in the present day." Peaceful occupations, untiring industry, and a careful frugality have characterized the habits of the people in the past as they do in the present. Wars were never justified except to secure peace, and upon the cessation of hostilities the armies eagerly returned to their peaceful pursuits.

A good minister out west preached a sermon on peace-making, and aimed at two of the deacons of his church who had long been at swords' points, and such was his eloquence and earnestness that directly after the benediction was pronounced one of the deacons went over to the other and remarked, with tears in his eyes, "Brother Stiggins, after such a sermon, there must be peace between us. Now, I can't give in, so you must."

A Philadelphia paper says of a gentleman of opposite political proclivities: "Charley Porter's trick mule, that answers to the name of Shoemaker, still performs in ward 28, to aid the bosses in defeating Wm. B. Smith for daring to be honest." And yet they call it time to be having a very quiet time, politically, in Philadelphia."

The Rage for Home Decoration.

New York Graphic.

This is becoming a serious question, some ladies carrying the decorating mania to such an extreme that a funny story is told of one unfortunate man who sits in the cellar, declaring it is the only place where he can take any comfort, the parlors and other rooms being converted into cabinets of embroideries, blue china, Japanese fancies and flapping portieres. In many homes the parlors are so crowded with bric-a-brac that there seems hardly room enough left to devote to comfort or convenience. Every door and window is curtained, and one has to be cautious with a large Gainsborough hat on, or the portiere will sweep it off. Small gilded wicker tables hold large china trays on which are placed cups and saucers. As said an owner, fire and gilt and chairs and even sofas, while in some drawing rooms shelves of books line the walls, and in others pictures, plaques, cabinets and shelves cover every inch of surface. Where room can be found, easels holding pictures, and jardinieres with growing plants are placed to fill up the chinks, so to speak, and it's well that the lovely mistresses of these dainty "interiors" are slim and wear clinging draperies. Should crinoline again present its unwelcome face and regain its despotic sway, good-by to the present state of things, for no one would desire to see their pretty arrangements turned topsy-turvy.

Philip Welding two years ago grew tired of his wife and eloped with her handsome sister from Germany. By hard work Mrs. Welding earned enough money to procure a passage to this country where she believed the guilty pair had preceded her. She arrived in Philadelphia last Christmas but poverty compelled her to accept a place as a domestic. Recently she heard that her husband was employed in a Paterson silk manufactory, that he was living with a woman he claimed as his wife, and that they had a child. Mrs. Wehling immediately started for Paterson. Orders of arrest were issued, and the entire party appeared in the police court next day. Mrs. Wehling looked pinched with poverty, and her successor was plump and rosy and fashionably attired. The sisters only exchanged wrathful glances. Wehling admitted his guilt, and was held for trial.

There are mean men in this world. Young Symonds got vaccinated with virus from Gallagher's arm. Hitherto Symonds had been known as a religious young man. Since the vaccination took he has acted worse than a drummer. He says its al the effect of Gallagher's blood introduced into his system and folks pretend to believe it, and it drives Gallagher almost to insanity. Mean trick of Symonds.

CONDITION OF TRADE IN NEW YORK.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

New York, April 7.—The condition of trade here is more animated in commercial circles, and a large business is done in merchandise. But still trade is not as active as it was supposed it would be at this time. Speculation in produce has assumed larger proportions than ever before. Nearly three times as much wheat, for instance, has been sold in New York the first three months of 1882 than in the same period in 1881. To a less extent this may be said of other commodities. This immense speculation is the worst feature of the financial situation and hurts prosperous business. Grain is feverish, fluctuations having been made in wheat in which there has been some decline. Corn has been very strong and made some advance in the face of small receipts. Spot corn and near by months is relatively higher than later ones. There was a slight upward turn to the mark at which closed weak. There has been some inquiry for export. Lard and pork have been gradually tending upward and prices are considerably in advance of three weeks ago. The market is no doubt manipulated by speculators, and lard at this moment seems to be relatively higher than pork. In cotton the market has been remarkably dull and lacking animation. Prices have been very steady with fluctuations within range of a few points and there is no money in it for any one but scalpers. In wool, the market is dull and unsatisfactory. Manufacturers buy only for the supply of needed wants and any slinding in prices on the part of holders tends rather to excite suspicion of lower rates than lead to transactions. In petroleum the market tends toward weakness all the way through, at a decline. There has been some considerable animation and some heavy sales, but these failed to make temporary improvement in prices. Freights are dull and unsatisfactory and prices nominal. In the iron trade generally there does not seem to be any buoyant feeling. There is evidently no confidence in higher prices, and consumers are buying only for immediate wants. Winter grades of pig iron are in good demand, but prices of other lines are weak. The price of rails is somewhat lower, but no large transactions are reported. In boots and shoes jobbing houses report a fair business so far this spring. Some manufacturers are busy with spring orders, and as a whole there is a fair business being done at close margins of profit. This is particularly true of manufacturers, who are paying higher prices for stock, but have not been enough to cause material advance in price in other products. In leather only a moderate business has been done and medium brands are firm. A generally hopeful feeling prevails of a fair season of business. Raw sugar has advanced the last three weeks about half a cent a pound on moderately active demand. In tea the demand is moderate at fair prices, and it is anticipated there will be a stiffening as the season advances and trade becomes active. The demand for Brazil grades of coffee is steady, and considerable transactions are reported. In milder grades prices continue firm and a slightly better demand. In butter the situation is very satisfactory. Scarcity in fine goods has made a market for poorer grades and almost all the stock that has been held in storage since last summer has been cleaned out. The supply now of all kinds is limited and all new arrivals are readily taken at full figures. Two weeks of mild weather will doubtless see a rapid fall in prices, but old butter will be fully closed out by that time. It is long since trade has been in such condition. Cheese still continues to hold its own on choice stock and 13½ is readily obtained for all fine goods, but there is yet about seventy thousand boxes of inferior goods here which has a very depressing effect, and on which ... before the season closes will be heavy. It is, however, in strong hands and no trouble with dealers anticipated.

Chicago Markets.

The board of trade having adjourned, there were only curb-stone markets to-day, and very little trading. Wheat was just a trifle lower and corn was somewhat higher, the advance amounting to nearly half a cent, but trading being only in May option, and between 73⅞ and 73¾. Provisions were not dealt in. It is learned that through rates to Liverpool have been decidedly weak. The assertion was made that a through rate by rail and water from Chicago to Liverpool has been as low as 29 cents per hundred. When it is understood that the regular rate from Chicago to New York is 25 cents per hundred, the magnitude of the cut is apparent.

[illegible] WINE,

TO TOP OFF A DINNER,

May be Drank Clear, as a Cordial.

For a dinner thoroughly appointed, the good old way was to wash down the last triumphs of the feast with copious libations of rich, rare and curious old Port and Golden Sherry; but "HUB PUNCH" has added a new sensation to the epicure. Its delicacy, aroma, flavor, and delicious but gentle effects, proclaim it the nectar fit for the gods banqueting on Olympus.

Mix HUB PUNCH with Ice Water, Cold Tea, Lemonade, or Soda. It is unanimously pronounced unrivalled.

TESTIMONIALS.

"As pleasant as nectar."—Boston Courier.

"Delicious beyond description."—Boston Transcript.

"Added to the good things of the table it enlarges the pleasures of life and encourages good fellowship and good nature if rightly enjoyed."—Springfield Republican.

"Invaluable for a little treat when a friend drops in."—New York Evening Post.

"It is a great trouble to make Punch, and many people lack the savoir faire to brew it. Hub Punch is indispensable wherever known."—Spirit of the Times, N. Y.

"The increasing popularity of Hub Punch is pleasant testimony to your success in using the best and purest components." PARK & TILFORD, New York.

"Our success in selling Hub Punch has surprised us, we having sold within the past three months a larger quantity than we anticipated selling in twelve."
SMITH & VANDERBEEK, New York and Chicago.

DR. LIEBIG

400 GEARY STREET,
San Francisco, Cal.

CONTINUES TO TREAT SUCCESSFULLY, by Homeopathy, every form of special or chronic disease without mercury or nauseous drugs. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR is a positive and permanent cure for seminal weakness, nervous and physical debility, lost manhood, vital exhaustion and all the terrible results of abused nature, excesses and youthful follies. The Doctor will agree in writing to forfeit $1,000 for a case that he undertakes and fails to cure. The reason thousands cannot get cured of seminal weakness and the above diseases is owing to a complication called Prostatorrhea, which requires a special remedy, DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2 is a specific cure for Prostatorrhea. Price of either Invigorator, $2 per bottle, or 6 bottles $10. Sent to any address, securely covered from observation. Seminal Weakness and Prostatorrhea drain vitality from the body and cause numerous diseases that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue, the unnatural loss affects the vital organs, which causes destroying diseases, Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Jaundice, Insanity, etc. Excesses, non-use, Abuse, Inherited Weakness, Malnutrition, Spinal and Cerebral Complaints bring on the above fatal diseases. Debility and Seminal Weakness obstruct the important and necessary acts of life and their enjoyments. Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the genito-urinary organs, kidneys, liver and bladder a specialty. The many complaints and Diseases of Women speedily cured; consultation at office or by letter, free and confidential.

Qualified and Responsible.

DR. LIEBIG & CO. Organized in compliance with California law. Diploma procured by regular college education. Seventeen years' special practice, and duly licensed in accordance with California Medical Law.

ROCKWOOD.

Dark bay; right fore foot and left hind foot white. Foaled May 17, 1875. Sired by Fleetwood, son of Happy Medium, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian; 1st dam by Alexander's Abdallah; 2d dam by ... Messenger; 3d dam by Pierce White. ... Fleetwood's dam by New York Black Hawk. Happy Medium's dam Princess. This admirably line bred stallion is making the season at Trotter's Home, corner Sixth and I streets, in this city. Terms (Insurance) $50, payable when mare is in foal. For further information address REDMOND & SMITH, Portland.

DUROC PRINCE.

This elegantly bred young stallion is making the season at the Trotting Home, corner Sixth and I streets, in this city. He is 4 years old, sired by Messenger Duroc; dam by Tunstall's Hambletonian, and he traces direct to Abdallah, the fountainhead of American trotters, through each of his four grandparents, as Messenger Duroc is a son of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, son of Abdallah, and the dam of Messenger Duroc was Satinet, Roe's Abdallah Chief, son of Abdallah; while Trendell's Hambletonian was by the Welling horse, grandson of Abdallah; and the dam of Lavinia was Rabbitt's Abdallah, by Abdallah. This is indeed most remarkable breeding, and can not fail to be appreciated. Duroc Prince is a black, and large; and in a few weeks training showed a 2:40 gait. He stands at $50 for insurance, money due when the mare proves in foal. For further information address REDMOND & SMITH, cor. 6th and I Sts., Portland, Or.
